Wallace Chances Figured Slightest

Alabama Gov. George Wallace is the least favored of six Democratic presidential candidates, a Dispatch Voting Machine Poll pairing of Wallace with President Ford and Republican challenger Ronald Reagan shows.

After two days of a four-day poll at the Beechmont Mall in Cincinnati, Wallace had received 27 votes to 91 for Ford and 26 votes to 91 for Reagan. The other five Democratic candidates were more successful in the pairings. Complete results follow.

THE WHITE HOUSE washington June 3, 1976

HILLY:

This letter from Frank Lausche ought to go in our political file.

RBC

June 2, 1974

Dear Mr. President:

With less than one week left in the Presidential primary, I am writing today to offer you my support in Ohio on June 8th.

As you know, although I have officially been a member of the Democratic Party, I have always tried to follow a course I believeAwas right regardless of its political affiliation. After careful consideration, I have concluded that the interests of our country would best be served by your nomination.

In my view, you have been decisive and courageous in your fight to keep congressional spending and resulting taxes down. Your policies have avoided what might have been a ruinous inflationary spiral.

Your conduct on foreign policy has maintained for the people of the United States the natioal dignity and international respect which our country deserves. You have fought for a strong military posture to insure a strength capable of coping with the Soviet threat while at the same time working for peaceful goals.

I would add that you have demonstrated great freedom and independence from interest group pressure. Your actions have restored the trust and confidence of the American people in the Presidency. You have consistently decided the difficult issues with only the national interest in mind and have shown yourself the type of statesman that warrants nomination today.

Let me close by wishing you the very best success in Ohio.

Yours,

Manh Lausche

The President
