Dear Bill:

Enclosed is a copy of a statement that serves as an example of the manner in which Governor Byrne has been repeatedly attacking the President.

In view of the publicity that his call for a meeting with the President has received, perhaps it would be a good idea for the White House to take the initiative and hold a meeting with the entire New Jersey Congressional delegation to discuss the State's unemployment problem. By doing it in this manner, he will not only be rejecting the Governor's politically motivated bid for a meeting but also will show to the people of New Jersey that the Administration is concerned about their problem which is unique inasmuch as New Jersey has the highest unemployment rate in the nation. The meeting could be set up on an emergency basis and perhaps the President would even want to go as far as to issue a statement to the effect that he was aware of the problem and was going to give New Jersey some kind of priority for emergency public service jobs.

I would appreciate receiving your comments on my views.

Cordially,

Byrne says pardon shakes faith in Ford

By ROBERT W. MATLIN
Star-Ledger Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Gov. Brendan T. Byrne yesterday accused President Ford of "shattering public confidence" by pardoning former President Nixon.

In a speech before the National Conference on Citizenship here, Byrne said Ford has destroyed the public confidence he had brought to the Presidency.

"He was re-establishing our faith in the pronouncement of our President, had been open and honest and was committed to both the spirit and letter of the law," the Governor said. "By a single act, those values were compromised and his influence was tragically squandered."

Byrne said that he did not question Ford's right to pardon Nixon but that the pardon power had been abused.

"It has been abused when it undermines the principles of accountability and compromises the concept of a single standard of justice," he said.

Byrne further described Ford's pardon of Nixon as a

Byrne wants Ford's ear on job funds

By LINDA LAMENHOLA

Gov. Brendan T. Byrne said yesterday he is seeking a meeting with President Ford in Washington this weekend to get assurances that New Jersey gets its full share of $415 million in federal funds to help ease the state's worsening unemployment.

Byrne said New Jersey has developed programs it could implement "if we had the money" and hoped to convince Ford of the "validity" of his request. In his telegram to Ford, Byrne said the state was "burdened with the largest unemployment rate in the nation."

The Governor, who was the guest at the Democratic State Committee luncheon, promised he would help the Democratic candidates in any way he could towards achieving a November victory. "If these seven candidates were in the halls of Congress I would be there."

Watergate tragedy or the Ford double standard of justice," said Dugan. "We will win on the positive programs we advance to deal with inflation and deal with it now." "In his last year in Con-support from the Democratic party would be at a minimum. He said fund raising was a difficult problem and was "not prepared" to estimate how much money would be poured into the congressional campaign.

who has brought us to the brink of disaster." Sandman was defeated in the race for governor by Byrne by a record 720,000 vote, and Republicans lost control of both the state Assembly and Senate. Yesterday, Democrats

Dear Congressman Baker:

Several ministerial colleagues of mine and I would like to be accorded the privilege of personally presenting President Ford with a commemorative copy of the Holy Bible. It is obvious from his brief inaugural statement as well as the wonderful address he made last evening before the Joint Session of the Congress that he is keenly aware of his need for Divine guidance in the conduct of his high office. Thus, through this gift of the Bible, we should like to reassure the President of our prayerful support and interest in the momentous decisions which determine the course of history.

I thought that perhaps through your personal friendship with the President, and knowing of your conviction regarding God's providential care, you could help direct us to the proper person on the President's staff in order to arrange an appointment.

Thank you in advance for your consideration and for any help you can give to this proposal.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

THROUGH:

FROM:

GENE AINSWORTH GA

SUBJECT:

Rep. John Dellenback (R-Oregon)

Rep. John Dellenback is most anxious to see the President on the subject of the economic plight of the forest products industry. As you know, John made a desperate, last-minute appeal to see the President today before he left for Oregon, which we had to deny because of time constraints on the President and because of John's flight departure time.

I did assure John that a meeting would be arranged with the President as soon as possible during the week of September 23rd. Because of John's insistence to see the President, I strongly urge that a meeting be arranged either on Monday, September 23rd or Tuesday, September 24th. A schedule proposal for such a meeting has already been submitted to Warren Rustand.

II. BACKGROUND, PARTICIPANTS & PRESS PLAN

A. Background:

1. The Elk Hills facility is located in Rep. Ketchum's district. Reps. Bell and Melcher have been leading the effort to unlock this resource which they claim eventually will produce 300,000 barrels of oil a day.
2. Chairman Hebert of the Armed Services Committee has opposed opening this Naval facility and has refused to consider legislation in his Committee.
3. The President's recommendation in his Economic Message to open Elk Hills was warmly applauded by California members in particular.

- B. Participants: The President
Rep. John Melcher (D-Mont.), Chairman of House Interior Subcommittee on Public Lands
Rep. Al Bell (R-Calif.)
Rep. William Ketchum (R-Calif.)
Vern Loen (Staff)
- C. Press Plan: White House photo only.

III. TALKING POINTS

1. I understand that the Elk Hills authorization already is included in the National Resource Lands Management Act (H.R. 16800) now in markup before the full Interior Committee. (Also known as the BLM Organic Act).
2. What would be the possibilities of including the Alaskan Naval Petroleum Reserve in the same bill?
3. I appreciate the leading role each of you has played in urging the release of these reserves during our present emergency. I hope you will give top priority to the passage of this authorizing legislation right after the recess.

Dear Mr. President:

Enclosed are copies of correspondence between the former chairman of this subcommittee and each of the three previous Presidents, relating to their Administration's policies to limit the use of so-called "Executive Privilege" only upon personal invocation by the President himself.

As you know, this subcommittee has conducted both investigative and legislative hearings on this subject during the past two Congresses and on March 14, 1974, favorably reported H. R. 12462, a bipartisan bill sponsored by Representative Erlenborn, myself, and other Members of both parties. A similar bill was passed by the Senate last December. A copy of our hearings and report on this measure is also enclosed.

In view of the then pending litigation over the tapes involving President Nixon and the Special Prosecutor, in which this issue was indirectly involved, we decided not to press for a rule on H. R. 12462 until after the Supreme Court had ruled in that case. Our staff analysis of the July 24, 1974, decision of the Court indicates that the ground rules for the use of "Executive Privilege" established in H. R. 12462 are not inconsistent with that decision since it did not deal directly with Congress' right to information from the Executive. We have since requested a rule on the measure and are awaiting the scheduling of a hearing by the Rules Committee.

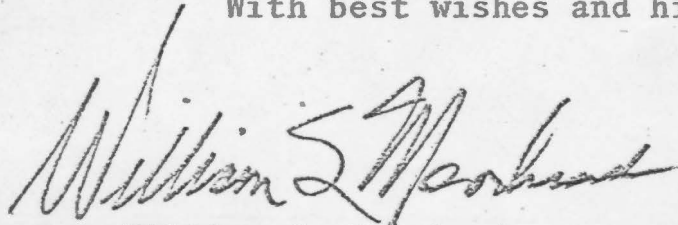

The Honorable Gerald R. Ford
Page Two
August 13, 1974

As you were a long-time Member of the House, it is not necessary to spell out to you details about the steady erosion in the flow of information from the Executive to the Congress which has taken place over the past generation. You are well aware of such problems and of the disastrous effect which the wholesale withholding of information from the Congress under "Executive Privilege" has had on the credibility of our government and its leaders. Last Friday's New York Times quoted remarks you made on this subject more than a decade ago: "Congress cannot help but conclude that executive privilege is most often used in opposition to the public interest."

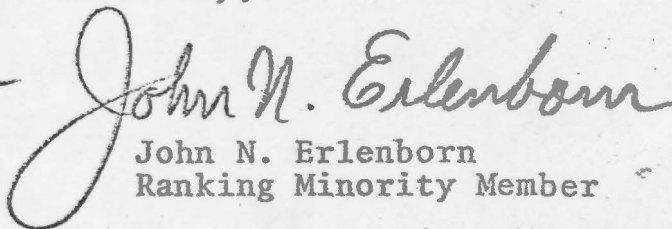

Before you make any decision with respect to an exchange of correspondence on the use of "Executive Privilege" in your Administration, we would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you to discuss this issue and your position on H. R. 12462.

With best wishes and highest regards,

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Broomfield:

The newly-elected officers of the Michigan Retired Officers Association have appointed me as one-man committee to write to you with regard to a presentation to the President of the United States.

As citizens of Michigan we are very proud of the fact that Mr. Ford is also from Michigan, and that he served with distinction as a Navy Officer in World War II. In addition and most important, our Association recognizes his accomplishments in public office and the far-reaching results of his efforts. We admire his sincerity and love for our Nation and how these traits are bringing us together again.

Because of these factors, and wishing to express our appreciation in a small way, we would like to make him Honorary Member of our group. Therefore, through me, the Association would appreciate if you would approach Mr. Ford and find out if he would accept this token of appreciation from us. The presentation would be made to him in an appropriate ceremony at his convenience.

Personally I sincerely appreciate all your kindness, and am ever grateful. Mrs. Munguia and Randy join me in sending you our best.

Dear Mr. President:

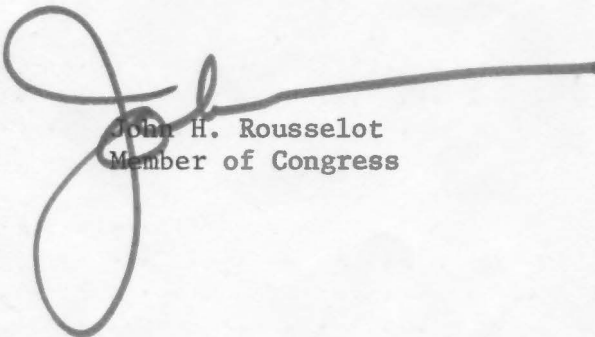

At the recent Antelope Valley Fair in California, Mr. James Jackson purchased a show-pig for me to present to you from the citizens of the Antelope Valley.

With your permission we would like to donate the dressed pig in your name to the Norwood Girls Ranch, 6700 East Avenue I, Lancaster, California, 93534. The Girls Ranch, founded in 1972, has two homes in Palmdale and one in Lancaster. This particular group was chosen because they do not receive any federal or county financial aid.

The pig was a one year old Durock breed, named "Little Red". It weighed one hundred ninety pounds, and won second place in the competition. Little Red was raised by Mrs. Jeff Morris (Carol), a June graduate of Antelope Valley High School. Carol has been a member of Future Farmers of America for four years and has also raised prize-winning beef and sheep.

May I ask a special favor, Mr. President? It would be greatly appreciated if a time could be scheduled for a photograph to help publicize this presentation in the Antelope Valley. As you may know, Bill Ketchum is now running as the incumbent in this area and would probably appreciate being included if a picture-taking appointment were scheduled. I am most hopeful of your favorable reply.

Kind regards,

John H. Rousselot
