MEMORANDUM FOR: PHILIP BUCHEN

FROM: WILLIAM N. WALKER Walker

SUBJECT: Necessity for Resubmitting
the Nomination of the Director of the Mine
Enforcement and Safety Administration

Attached is an opinion by the Office of the Solicitor at Interior, concluding that it is not necessary to resubmit the subject candidate's nomination to the 94th Congress. Inasmuch as the incumbent, James Day, has become controversial with Arthur Miller and in turn the Javits committee, we should be very sure of our actions. I would value the opinion of your office.

Thanks.

IN REPLY REFER TO:

Memorandum

To: L.E. Striegel, Special Assistant to the Solicitor

From: T.S. Elliott, Assistant Solicitor
General Legal Services

Subject: Senate Confirmation - MESA

Public Law 93-153, Section 405 (enacted in November 1973), provides that the head of the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration (MESA) shall be appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate. MESA was established by the Secretary of the Interior earlier in 1973 pursuant to Secretarial Order No. 2953 under the authority provided in Section 2 of Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1950. At the time Congress passed P.L. 93-153 (November 1973), James Day was serving as administrator of MESA. Congress recognized this in § 405 and stated that if the individual serving at the date of enactment were appointed, he might continue to serve "unless and until such nomination shall be disapproved by the Senate." After enactment of the statute, Mr. Day's name was sent to the Senate. There has been no action on his nomination and he continues to serve as administrator of MESA.

Since the Senate failed to act on the nomination, a question has arisen as to whether Mr. Day's name must be submitted to the Senate in the 94th Congress.

The first and most important question is whether the action by Congress which would permit the Senate to remove Mr. Day from office is constitutional. It appears that the only constitutional authority for Congress to remove persons from office in the Executive Branch is through the impeachment process.

Article II, Section 2, of the Constitution provides that the President shall nominate and shall, with advice and consent of the Senate, appoint officers of the United States. It further states that Congress may vest appointment of officers in the President alone or heads of Departments. Article II, Section 4, provides for removal of civil officers of the United States on impeachment and conviction. One other provision might be pertinent--Article I, Section 3, wherein the Senate is granted the power to try all impeachments and the judgment in such cases shall extend no further than removal from office.

Congress, in the past, has recognized the constitutional issue raised here. As long ago as 1789, James Madison spoke to the limits of Congress' power, see 1 Annals of Congress 581.

More recently, Congress has rejected legislative provisions whose effect would be to remove persons from office. In 1965, Congress considered a bill (S. 2054) to extend the Peace Corps. Sargent Shriver, its head, was also Director of OEO. While considering S. 2054, the Senate passed an amendment proposed by Sen. Javits to the bill which provided that the Director of the Peace Corps could not hold certain other offices (which would have included Director of OEO). When the measure reached the floor of the House, Rep. Gallagher advised that the Department of Justice had written the President asserting the unconstitutionality of the amendment, 111 Cong. Rec. 18710. The House amended the Senate Bill, excising the Javits amendment. The final law (P.L. 89-134; 79 Stat. 549) did not provide for removal of the Director from one of his offices.

Also, in P.L. 90-351, 82 Stat. 236, Congress provided for appointment of the FBI Director with Senatorial advice and consent. The law, however, specifically exempted the incumbent.

While considering P.L. 93-153, Rep. Horton of New York discussed § 405, asking for its deletion or an amendment to exempt the incumbent MESA administrator (Cong. Rec. November 7, 1973, at p. H9810). Congressman Horton extended his remarks at P. E7130 to state that under the Constitution only the President can remove purely executive officers.

Mr. Day was the incumbent when P.L. 93-153 was signed. He was appointed under proper authority which did not require Senate approval. It is argued, therefore, that since the prerequisites of Article II, Section 2, were met, the Senate cannot, using § 405, remove him from an office he lawfully holds.

One can argue that by submitting the nomination, the President is estopped by his actions from asserting the unconstitutionality, and thus must resubmit. The answer to this is two-fold:

- (1) Estoppel cannot operate in a case like this since it would prevent the Executive Branch from ever asserting the constitutional question - except by veto - clearly an untenable conclusion. Also since Congress was made aware that its action was not authorized by the Constitution, perhaps estoppel should work against Congress.
- (2) Submission of the nomination was not an acknowledgment of the constitutionality but rather was done as a courtesy to Congress in view of its desire to review the qualifications of MESA's head.

A further argument for not submitting the nomination is the fact that it was done once in a timely fashion and the Senate failed to disapprove, thereby impliedly approving the appointment. Having had ample opportunity to disapprove and failing to do so, the President should not now be required to submit the same name to an entirely new Congress. This argument is relatively weak, without questioning the constitutionality of the law.

There are practical considerations which may militate against withholding the nomination. Conceivably, the Senate could refuse to consider measures for MESA, including appropriations, if Mr. Day's name is not submitted and he continues to act as administrator, on the theory that he serves illegally. Furthermore, it may be that the Senate will not be inclined to disapprove the nomination, in view of the constitutional issue and yet refrain from approval. If so, no harm would be done and the President could not be criticized for refusing to acknowledge the intent of Congress.

Wednesday 9/17/75

3:00 Joe Deeb stopped by to talk with me. He said several weeks ago he came in and met with Brad Patterson for about three hours. Mr. Patterson indicated there were two openings at the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission -- either as a Commissioner or as General Counsel.

He distinctly got the impression from Mr. Patterson that he would fit either job and they would have to put a couple more people on the list -- but he felt quite good about the possibilities of Mr. Deeb getting one of the slots.

He has now had a call from Paul Manafort (who has only been in the White House for four weeks) asking him all kinds of questions and seemed not to know anything about procedures. He's rather concerned that it's been sidetracked -- and he had felt there was no problem. Mr. Manafort said Mr. Patterson had turned the papers over to him. 456-2737

Dear Phil:

Now that President Ford has withdrawn Mr. Nixon's nominees for the Board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, I would like to propose a new name for his consideration. He is Donald D. Carlyon, President of Delta Community College, near Midland, Michigan.

As you know, there is no one on the present Board who represents the community college, which is of such importance in our higher educational system. Mr. Carlyon is an independent politically. He is community and broadcast oriented, and his PBS station at Delta Community College is one of the best in the state. He is aware of and sensitive to the conflicts between commercial and non-commercial broadcasting and would be a real asset to the CPB board.

Second subject: If you are going to be in Grand Rapids over the holidays, could we entice you to appear on our FOCUS public affairs program? I think you can be able to give some insights into the Ford White House that the home folks will find extremely interesting.

I hope all goes well with you.

Sincerely,

Dear Phil:

I am writing in support of Allen L. Donielson of West Des Moines, Iowa, for the position of Assistant Attorney General for the Criminal Division of the U. S. Justice Department. This is the position being vacated by Henry Peterson.

Mr. Donielson has served as United States Attorney for the Southern District of Iowa since January 20, 1969. He has compiled an outstanding record these past six years, as would be reflected in the files of the Justice Department.

Mr. Donielson has been an active U. S. Attorney; he spends many of his working days in court. His office was designated "Special Prosecutor of non-leadership Wounded Knee" and handled 86 cases.

He has received several awards and citations from the Attorney General and the Justice Department. In 1974 he served as Vice President of the National Federal Bar Association.

I would appreciate anything you could do to assist Mr. Donielson in securing this important position. As a lawyer, I recommend him very highly, as I know he would be a tremendous asset to his country.

Counsel's Office has approved the conflicts and security on the above-named nominee.

The statute creating the Corporation for Public Broadcasting specifically calls for the selection of people in the broadcasting business and excepts such members from coverage under federal conflict of interest laws. Nonetheless, Joseph Coors was earlier disapproved on the grounds that he would not sell his television stock.

Diana Dougan has broadcast interests that could be used as a basis for political opposition but there is no question about the legality of her retaining these holdings.

I intend to notify Professor A.S. Meyer in writing that should I again enter the government I wish to sever again any such relationship. There has never been a contract for a commitment to go or to be asked. The fee was $250.00 a day for each day in Saudi Arabia. No work has been done in this country.

Congressman Moss and Senator Jackson enquired about this matter in July and August 1974, and with the help of Under Secretary of the Treasury, Edward C. A formal ruling was made by the Office of Legal Counsel, Department of Justice and the General Counsel of the Treasury to be the effect there was no conflict with being a consultant to the U.S. Treasury and to make such occasional trips to Saudi Arabia to consult with the C.P.O.

THROUGH: DONALD RUMSFELD

FROM: DOUGLAS P. BENNETT

SUBJECT: Assistant Secretary of Transportation for Congressional and Intergovernmental Affairs

This position (Legislation Tab A) has been vacant since John Snow's appointment as Deputy Under Secretary of Transportation in April of this year. To fill it we propose the following candidate:

Donald R. Dwight, 44, Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts from 1971-1975 (Resume Tab B). Prior to his service as Lieutenant Governor, Dwight served as Commissioner of Administration and Finance and as Associate Commissioner of the Department of Public Works in Massachusetts. In addition, he has served in a variety of capacities with the Holyoke Transcript-Telegram. His familiarity with a broad spectrum of transportation problems at the state and municipal level, and his many contacts in cities and state houses across the country will be extremely useful to him in carrying out his inter-governmental duties. His lack of Hill experience should be more than off-set by the combination of an experienced deputy and John Snow's residual responsibilities in that area. Dwight has the strong support of Secretary Coleman, former Governor Sargent and Senator Brooke. He is Republican.

AN ACT

To establish a Department of Transportation, and for other purposes.

October 15, 1966
[H. R. 15963]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That this Act may be cited as the "Department of Transportation Act".

Department of Transportation
Act.

DECLARATION OF PURPOSE

SEC. 2. (a) The Congress hereby declares that the general welfare, the economic growth and stability of the Nation and its security require the development of national transportation policies and programs conducive to the provision of fast, safe, efficient, and convenient transportation at the lowest cost consistent therewith and with other national objectives, including the efficient utilization and conservation of the Nation's resources.

(b) (1) The Congress therefore finds that the establishment of a Department of Transportation is necessary in the public interest and to assure the coordinated, effective administration of the transportation programs of the Federal Government; to facilitate the development and improvement of coordinated transportation service, to be provided by private enterprise to the maximum extent feasible; to encourage cooperation of Federal, State, and local governments, carriers, labor, and other interested parties toward the achievement of national transportation objectives; to stimulate technological advances in transportation; to provide general leadership in the identification and solution of transportation problems; and to develop and recommend to the President and the Congress for approval national transportation policies and programs to accomplish these objectives with full and appropriate consideration of the needs of the public, users, carriers, industry, labor, and the national defense.

(2) It is hereby declared to be the national policy that special effort should be made to preserve the natural beauty of the countryside and public park and recreation lands, wildlife and waterfowl refuges, and historic sites.

ESTABLISHMENT OF DEPARTMENT

SEC. 3. (a) There is hereby established at the seat of government an executive department to be known as the Department of Transportation (hereafter referred to in this Act as the "Department"). There shall be at the head of the Department a Secretary of Transportation (hereafter referred to in this Act as the "Secretary"), who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Secretary.

(b) There shall be in the Department an Under Secretary, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Under Secretary (or, during the absence or disability of the Under Secretary, or in the event of a vacancy in the office of Under Secretary, an Assistant Secretary or the General Counsel, determined according to such order as the Secretary shall prescribe) shall act for, and exercise the powers of the Secretary, during the absence or disability of the Secretary or in the event of a vacancy in the office of Secretary. The Under Secretary shall perform such functions, powers, and duties as the Secretary shall prescribe from time to time.

Under Secretary.

(c) There shall be in the Department four Assistant Secretaries and a General Counsel, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and who shall perform such functions, powers, and duties as the Secretary shall prescribe from time to time.

Assistant Secretary for Administration.

(d) There shall be in the Department an Assistant Secretary for Administration, who shall be appointed, with the approval of the President, by the Secretary under the classified civil service who shall perform such functions, powers, and duties as the Secretary shall prescribe from time to time.

Administrations.

(e) (1) There is hereby established within the Department a Federal Highway Administration; a Federal Railroad Administration; and a Federal Aviation Administration. Each of these components shall be headed by an Administrator, and in the case of the Federal Aviation Administration there shall also be a Deputy Administrator. The Administrators and the Deputy Federal Aviation Administrator shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Federal Aviation Administration, qualifications.

(2) The qualifications of the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency specified in section 301(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (72 Stat. 744; 49 U.S.C. 1341), and the qualifications and status of the Deputy Administrator specified in section 302(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, (72 Stat. 744; 49 U.S.C. 1342), shall apply, respectively, to the Administrator and Deputy Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration. However, nothing in this Act shall be construed to preclude the appointment of the present Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency as Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration in accordance with the provisions of the Act of June 22, 1965, as amended (79 Stat. 171).

49 USC 1341 note. Coast Guard.

(3) In addition to such functions, powers, and duties as are specified in this Act to be carried out by the Administrators, the Administrators and the Commandant of the Coast Guard shall carry out such additional functions, powers, and duties as the Secretary may prescribe. The Administrators and the Commandant of the Coast Guard shall report directly to the Secretary.

Transfer of powers prohibited.

(4) The functions, powers, and duties specified in this Act to be carried out by each Administrator shall not be transferred elsewhere in the Department unless specifically provided for by reorganization plan submitted pursuant to provisions of chapter 9 of title 5, United States Code, or by statute.

Ante, p. 393. National Traffic Safety Bureau.

(f) (1) The Secretary shall carry out the provisions of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 718) through a National Traffic Safety Bureau (hereafter referred to in this paragraph as "Bureau"), which he shall establish in the Department of Transportation. The Bureau shall be headed by a Director who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and shall be compensated at the rate prescribed for level V of the Executive Schedule. All other provisions of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966 shall apply.

WASHINGTON

September 9, 1975

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: DONALD RUMSFELD

FROM: DOUGLAS P. BENNETT

SUBJECT: Administrator, GSA -
Level III (PAS)

A vacancy in this position will exist as a result of Arthur F. Sampson's resignation, effective October 15, 1975.

The General Services Administration was established in 1949 to be the business agent of government. GSA is responsible for the efficient management of all federal property, computer resources, records, the procurement and distribution of supplies, and the transportation and stockpiling of strategic materials. GSA is also responsible for the National Emergency Preparedness Program. Although GSA does not require large budget appropriations, with less than $340 million requested for fiscal 1976, this 40,000-man agency manages annual dollar flows of roughly $4 billion.

Jack M. Eckerd, age 62, a Republican, of Florida (resume at Tab A), attended Culver Military Academy and the University of Pittsburgh, and in 1969 received an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Tampa. Immediately after Pearl Harbor he joined the U.S. Army Air Corps and served throughout WWII as a pilot. Starting with three drug stores that he bought in 1952, his business empire has grown to nearly 500 retail drug and department stores throughout the South. Eckerd has also been very active in his community. In 1968 he was Florida State Chairman of the Heart Fund Campaign, in 1974 was selected Honorary Florida Chairman of the Arthritis Foundation, was selected by the Florida Veterans of Foreign Wars for the Americanism Award, and has run twice for the U.S. Senate.

Eckerd has the demonstrated ability to run large organizations and the commanding bearing needed for this tough government job. He has no further political ambitions of his own and is ready to serve in your Administration for as long as you want. After a preliminary look at his holdings by Counsel, it would appear that no unsolvable conflict of interest with this job exists. I recommend that you nominate Eckerd as Administrator of the General Services Administration.

MEMORANDUM FOR: WILLIAM WALKER

FROM: PHILIP BUCHEN T.W.B.

SUBJECT: John A. Eckler

Information about the above individual is contained in the attached excerpt from Martindale-Hubbell. You will recall that Eckler was the gentleman whom Attorney General Levi had an interest in for the position of Deputy Attorney General but he turned out to not be among the finalists. However, because of the favorable letter attached which I received from John Chester about Eckler I thought you should have this information in the event there is some other position suitable to this man's interest and qualifications.

Dear Jack:

My apologies for not acknowledging earlier your letter of February 5. When I called you about John Eckler, I was doing so on behalf of a particular officer in the Administration who wanted a check made without revealing his identity. It later turned out that the official in question had decided to turn elsewhere in filling the open position.

In view of your firm endorsement of John, I will however pass the information on to the Office of Presidential Appointments so that he may be considered for some other openings suitable to his interest and qualifications.

Dear Howard:

After receiving your letter of May 21, I passed it on to the Presidential Appointments Office and asked for suggestions as to where you might continue to serve the Government as a historian.

If I receive any suggestions, I shall pass them on to you immediately.

Recently I have come to know Dr. Ernest R. May, Professor of History at Harvard University. He regularly spends time in Washington working at the Defense Department and it is possible that if you get in touch with him that he may be able to be of some assistance. He can be reached at 697-4772 .

OFFICE OF THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D. C. 20580

November 24, 1975

Dear Mr. President:

I herewith submit my resignation as Chairman and a member of the Federal Trade Commission, effective December 31, 1975. The past three years have been exciting and challenging for me. But, as I have discussed with you, I believe the time has come for me to explore other alternatives, including other forms of public service.

I feel extremely fortunate to have had the opportunity to serve as Chairman of the FTC. Sharing your belief that our free market economy needs vigorous and honest competition to make it work, the Commission has substantially increased its antitrust enforcement activity over the past few years. At the same time, we have recognized that economic restraints causing higher prices do not come alone from collusion or abuse of market power by business. These restraints also come from government regulation when that regulation fails to produce public benefit equal to the costs which it imposes on all of us.

While I have not hesitated to speak out about some of the abuses flowing from actions of other government agencies, the FTC also has looked inward and tried to improve itself by developing better economic data and by instituting cost-benefit analyses and better planning and management practices.

I deeply appreciate your support in reaching for these goals. And, as one of your longtime constituents, I am particularly grateful that we have a man with your firmness of purpose, integrity and courage providing us with the leadership we need today.

With warmest personal wishes to you and Betty,

Respectfully yours,

Fall, 1974

BIOGRAPHICAL BACKGROUND OF MARK EVANS

BORN:

April 1, 1917, -- a native of Ogden, Utah.

EARLY CAREER:

College Student Body President at Weber (pronounced "Wee-ber") State College; winner of National Collegiate Oratorical Contest; winner of National Extemporaneous Speaking Contest; three years L.D.S. Missionary to Norway.

MARRIED:

In the fall of 1940 to the former Lola Brown, whom he had met at college. They are the parents of three daughters, Nancy, Penny and Wendy -- all of whom are now married. Mr. and Mrs. Evans maintain homes in Washington, D. C., Wolfeboro, New Hampshire, and Scottsdale, Arizona.

RADIO-TV CAREER:

Started at KSL in Salt Lake City. During the war, Mr. Evans operated the radio station at Walter Reed Hospital where he did a weekly program with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Following the war, he did a coast-to-coast fifteen minute news broadcast. For fifteen years, he did the morning broadcast over CBS in Washington, replacing Arthur Godfrey. For two years, he did the commercials on CBS, coast-to-coast, for the "I LOVE LUCY" and the "OUR MISS BROOKS" shows. Mr. Evans appeared for ten years daily over CBS-TV, Washington, and five years on a one-hour program on Metromedia, also in Washington. Now, he occasionally appears on Metromedia news specials with Washington newsmakers in addition to wrestling Washington legislative problems for Metromedia, Inc, which he does as Vice President for Public Affairs. He recently was anchorman on an award winning documentary on pollution called "1985".

He was a member of the NAB Television Board, a member of the Future of Broadcasting Committee and Chairman of a special Task Force representing 7,000 U.S. broadcasters and the National Association of Broadcasters seeking license renewal legislation.

TRAVEL:

He has traveled extensively. Five trips to Africa -- an across-the-Congo hunting trip, and two weeks with Dr. Albert Schweitzer in Gabon. In addition to frequent trips to Europe, he has traveled down the Amazon River from top to bottom. He has filmed and traveled from Hammerfest, Norway to Capetown, South Africa. He single-handedly did an 80-minute documentary on the Soviet Union and accompanied Vice President Humphrey to the Far East for the Inauguration of President Marcos of the Phillipines

Mr. Evans also reported the Inauguration of the President of Mexico. In the fall of 1971, he participated in a pro-amateur golf tournament in Morocco as the guest of the King of Morocco.

LECTURE ACTIVITIES:

Mr. Evans is in constant demand as a lecturer by civic and service groups from coast to coast. He is the only Washingtonian ever invited to speak eight times before the 12,000 members of the National Geographic Society in Constitution Hall. He has addressed such groups as the Los Angeles Town Hall; the San Francisco Commonwealth Club; Sacramento's Comstock Club; Advertising Clubs of Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Washington; Rotary Clubs from New York to San Diego and from Seattle to Houston; the student bodies of the United States Naval Academy, Stanford, Yale, Brigham Young and Maryland Universities as well as Weber State and Bradley Colleges.

He has also spoken before the American Bar Association and the National Realtors Convention in Hawaii, as well as dozens of national and local convention groups. He presided over the inauguration of the new United States Postal Service.

During 1971, he also acted as the keynote speaker on the Aircade of the National Chamber of Commerce of the United States when they visited 14 cities in 16 days.

CIVIC INTERESTS:

During 1973, Mr. Evans served as a delegate to the United States Mission to the United Nations' 28th General Assembly. He served with distinction on seven major committees ranging from the peaceful uses of space to the Palestine Refugee Committee.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce; a member of the Board of Directors of Garfinckel's, Brooks Brothers; a member of the Board of the Security National Bank of Washington; the Board of Trustees of the American Automobile Association Foundation as well as a member of the Board of Directors of the Washington Metropolitan Board of Trade. He is a member of the Convention and Visitors Bureau on the Executive Committee as well as a member of the Advisory Board, and, for two years, was the Chairman of the National Cherry Blossom Festival. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of Holton-Arms School where he once used his influence to enroll Susan Ford at the request of then Congressman Jerry Ford.

Mr. Evans was selected as the Chairman of the Inaugural Ball Committee when President Nixon was inaugurated in January of 1969. He quarter-backed the largest and most successful party ever held. 35,000 people paid one and a half million dollars to inaugurate the President. Mr. and Mrs. Evans escorted the President and Mrs. Nixon, introducing them to the revellers at seven different Inaugural Balls.

In 1973, he was the Vice Chairman of the entire Inaugural being in charge of all "Invitation Only" affairs. His group handled sixteen different events calling for the issuance of 106,000 tickets. The fact that he survived at all is testimony of his durability.

He also worked on inaugurals for Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Johnson.

AWARDS:

Doctor of Humanities from his Alma Mater, Weber State College, Ogden, Utah.
Army Commendation Medal
Two National Freedoms Foundation Awards
District Citizenship Award by Prince George's County
The Lions' Club Tri-State Humanitarian of the Year Award
Scout of the Year Award for 1970, joining such distinguished company as General Louis Hershey and Admiral Arleigh Burke (ret.)

HOBBIES:

Golf (9 handicap) -- once captured his first hole-in-one while three U.S. Senators, his playing companions, provided the applause. He likes hunting, fishing, traveling, reading, lecturing, and being with his family, as well as picture-taking -- both movies and still shots.

(One of his proudest achievements is the securing of the $100,000 pearl crown worn annually by the Cherry Blossom Queen. The crown was donated by Mr. Evans' good friend, Mr. Mikimoto of Tokyo, Japan.)

Within the recent past, he gave the commencement address at Weber State College last June.
