MEMORANDUM FOR:

KATHY TINDLE

FROM:

DUDLEY CHAPMAN

SUBJECT:

Executive Order Establishing the President's Economic Policy Board
Log No. : 617

The membership on the board contains no representation of the two government agencies responsible for the competitive aspects of economic policy--the Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Antitrust Division and the Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

Both of these officials play important policy roles. The head of the Antitrust Division is required by Justice Department regulations to act as the spokesman for competition within the executive branch. For this purpose it is recommended that the Attorney General be added to membership, for whom the head of the Antitrust Division would customarily sit as his designate. Since the Board is not limited to executive branch officials, there would also be reason to include the FTC chairman.

As pointed out in the OMB memorandum, the FEA administrator is another logical candidate if the board is to exercise comprehensive economic policy authority.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. L. WILLIAM SEIDMAN
Executive Director, Conference on Inflation

Subject: Proposed Executive Order Entitled "Establishing the President's Economic Policy Board, and for Other Purposes."

Attached is a proposed Executive order which we have prepared to implement the staff press release, dated September 9, 1974, which, among other things, provides for the establishment of the President's Economic Policy Board.

Since we understand that the proposed press release reflects decisions that have already been made, we have not circulated this proposed Order for comment by interested agencies pursuant to the provisions of Executive Order No. 11030, as amended, relating to the processing of proposed Executive orders. Furthermore, we have not submitted it for the consideration of the Attorney General as to form and legality. If you wish, we can informally submit it to the Department of Justice for a quick legal review.

We note that the Administrator of the Federal Energy Administration was not listed as a member of the Board. We mention this omission because we are not sure whether it was intentional or inadvertent.

If there are any questions concerning this draft, or if we can be of further assistance, please let me know.

OF THE EPB EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

As you know, the Economic Policy Board Executive Committee meets daily to coordinate domestic and international economic policy within the U.S. Government.

The standard procedures under which the Executive Committee operate is the publication in advance of a weekly agenda, supplemented as necessary by daily agenda. In most instances, the lead department or agency will deliver a paper on a scheduled agenda item to my office for distribution to Executive Committee members 24 hours in advance. Minutes of each meeting are written and distributed to the Executive Committee which record the decisions made.

Please advise me as to the confidentiality of our agenda, discussion papers, and minutes if requested under the Freedom of Information Act, by the Congress, or the GAO.

MEMORANDUM FOR: ANDRE LE TENDRE
FROM: SKIP WILLIAMS AW
SUBJECT: National Transportation Safety Board

You have asked my advice concerning the legality of two courses of action concerning NTSB:

1. Can the President remove the chairman from the Board?
2. Can the President remove the chairman from the position of chairman but have him continue as a member of the Board?

Regarding the first question, 49 U. S. C. 1654(h) provides that the members of the Board shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and that they "may be removed by the President for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office." Because the NTSB has some quasi-judicial functions, I construe this provision as containing the only justifications for removal of a member from the Board. Accordingly, removal from the Board may only be for the reasons set forth above.

I perceive no legal difficulty in removing the chairman from that position for any reason whatsoever as long as he is kept on the Board, since the President designates one of the members "from time to time" to be chairman. 49 U. S. C. 1654(j).

MEMORANDUM FOR: Phil Buchen

FROM: Bill Casselman

Jim Falk and I have been asked informally by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Law if we wished to participate in the work of the Conference. Falk's interest stems primarily from his efforts in the area of intergovernmental relations. My interest comes from my association with the Citizens Committee on State Legislatures and the Administrative Conference of the United States.

From 1971 to 1973, I served as a member of the Administrative Conference and was active on the Claims and Adjudications Subcommittee which considered a number of matters now before the National Conference, including indian trust relations and land law reform. Since I am no longer a member of the Administrative Conference, service on the National Conference would permit a continuation of my work in these and/or other areas of professional responsibilities and personal interest.

Attached is a proposed letter for your signature designating me as an Advisory Member of the Conference in response to a letter from Harold Read. Also attached is a copy of a similar letter from Ken Cole to Read designating Falk as the Domestic Council representative.

President Gerald R. Ford
The White House
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear President Ford:

At least once in each of the past several years, this Conference's Committee on the Federal-State Relationship has met in Washington with people who are active in the area of intergovernmental relations. The success of those meetings in creating a better understanding of our mutual purposes and methods of operation and, even more significantly, in avoiding duplication of effort led the Commission to include in a revised Constitution adopted this year provision for a class of Advisory Members representing governmental agencies and other organizations having a particular interest in intergovernmental relations and uniformity of law. The constitutional provision appears on page 28 of our Reference Book, a copy of which is enclosed.

Pursuant to the provisions of the new Constitution, the Executive Committee has asked me to invite you to designate a representative of the Office of the President to serve as an Advisory Member of the Conference. We will indeed be honored if you will do so.

October 28, 1974

Although not a constitutional requirement, it is desirable that each Advisory Member be an attorney. All of the Commissioners are required to be members of the bar and the nature of our work is such that bar membership will give the Advisory Member a decided advantage. The demands of this appointment on the time of an Advisory Member ordinarily will not be substantial, although we are hopeful that the Advisory Members will find it possible to attend at least a portion of each of our annual meetings which usually take place during the first week in August.

Thus, I solicit your selection of a representative whom we may designate as an Advisory Member of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. Upon his appointment, I would contemplate sending him a list of our active committees so as to determine whether there are any in which he has a particular interest and, if so, to request that he serve on one or more of those committees. I have recently been told that William E. Casselman has indicated a special interest in our Conference.

I will look forward to hearing from you, and I also solicit your thoughts as to the ways in which we may make the advisory membership more meaningful and effective.

Respectfully,

Harold E. Read, Jr.

Dear President Read:

On behalf of President Ford, it is my pleasure, as Executive Director of the Domestic Council, to designate James H. Falk, Associate Director, Domestic Council, to serve as an Advisory Member of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

Congratulations on your becoming a partner of Webster, Kilcullen and Chamberlain. I trust your new association will prove to be a most satisfying one, and I wish you every success.

You asked me some months ago about obtaining a list of all the various Federal Advisory Committees. I find that annually the President under the Federal Advisory Committee Act is called upon to report on all committees in existence. The last report on file is for 1973, and I am sure you can obtain a copy readily from the Hill.

However, many Committees have expired or been abolished since 1973, so you should also ask for a copy of the 1974 report when it is filed.

MEMORANDUM FOR PHILIP BUCHEN

FROM: WILLIAM WALKER Walker

SUBJECT: Waiver of Security

A three day meeting of the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations will begin on Thursday, February 20.

The President has decided to appoint (Senate confirmation not required) the following individuals to this panel:

John H. Altorfer, of Peoria, Illinois. He succeeds Howard H. Callaway.

James T. Lynn, Director of the Office of Management and Budget. He succeeds George P. Shultz.

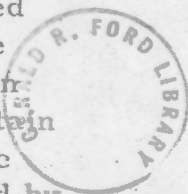

Governor Richard F. Kneip, of Salem, South Dakota. This is a reappointment.

Governor Philip W. Noel, of Warwick, Rhode Island. He succeeds Dale Bumpers who has resigned.

Robert P. Knowles, of Richmond, Wisconsin, State Senator of Wisconsin. This is a reappointment.

Full field FBI clearances are traditionally required for these appointments.

It would be advisable that the two reappointees and three new appointees attend the meetings. The program this year consists of 350 participants in plenary and round-table discussions. There will be no classified information presented or discussed as most of the participants are members of the public. Essentially, the meetings are a discussion of the theoretic role of the various levels of government with certain case studies. These appointments are for two years and the future effective performance of these members would be greatly enhanced by their attendance at these sessions.

As an announcement to the Press was made on February 18, I recommend your approval of a waiver of clearances as a precondition to Presidential signature commissioning the above individuals. The clearance procedure would go forward in any event.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 92—A PERIOD TO HONOR AMERICA

Mr. HUGH SCOTT. Mr. President, I send a joint resolution to the desk, on behalf of myself and the distinguished majority leader, the Senator from Montana (Mr. MANSFIELD), and ask for its immediate consideration.

This resolution has been passed on an annual basis, and I hope that it will be agreed to once again.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Pennsylvania?

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the joint resolution (S.J. Res. 92) to honor America, which was read the first time by title and the second time at length.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The joint resolution is open to amendment. If there be no amendment to be proposed, the question is on the engrossment and third reading of the joint resolution.

The joint resolution (S.J. Res. 92) was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed as follows:

S.J. RES. 92

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Congress declares the twenty-one days from Flag Day through Independence Day as a period to honor America, and further declares that there be public gatherings and activities at which the people of the United States can celebrate and honor their country in an appropriate manner.

House of Representatives

MONDAY, JUNE 9, 1975

PROVIDING FOR A 21-DAY PERIOD TO HONOR AMERICA

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate joint resolution (S.J. Res. 92) to honor America, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate joint resolution.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Arizona?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate joint resolution, as follows:

S.J. Res. 92

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Congress declares the twenty-one days from Flag Day through Independence Day as a period to honor America, and further declares that there be public gatherings and activities, at which the people of the United States can celebrate and honor their country in an appropriate manner.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, nearly two centuries ago, in 1790, George Washington expressed in a letter his feelings about the new Government of the United States. He said:

This Government, though not absolutely perfect, is one of the best in the world, of that I have little doubt.

Perhaps, in these days of national stress, we all should stop and think a bit about America—the heritage of freedom we have been charged to maintain, and the advantages of living in a land of opportunity.

We have just such an observance at hand. The 21 days between Flag Day, June 14, and Independence Day, July 4, have been designated as "Honor America Days." This is the sixth annual observance, and it records our Nation's 199th birthday.

Honor America Days is a program that is nonpolitical, nonpartisan, just simply, purely patriotic. It is a time when Americans should pause to count the blessings that only our freedoms can give, to be grateful to those whose courage and foresight established this great Nation, and to rededicate ourselves to the principles of our Republic, a Government unique in today's world.

I urge that all Americans use this opportunity to honor our great land, and to attend or take part in the festivals, concerts, folklore and craft exhibitions that will be reminders of the rich heritage nearly two centuries of Americanism have produced.

It is with great pleasure that I join the leadership in Congress in recognizing this period—Honor America Days—as a time of gratitude for what we have, and renewal of the spirit, faith, and ambitions that brought forth this Government and its blessings for us, and the freedom-loving peoples of the world.

The Senate joint resolution was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Measures Passed:

Honor America: Senate took from desk, passed without amendment, and sent to the House, S.J. Res. 92, declaring the 21 days from Flag Day through Independence Day as a period to honor America;

Honor America: By a voice vote, the House passed S.J. Res. 92, to honor America; clearing the measure for the President.

July 3, 1776

The HONOR AMERICA program of the American Historic and Cultural Society was designed to increase the knowledge of the American public about its cultural heritage, constitutional form of government, and history, also to commemorate the anniversary of the independence of the United States of America.

This is accomplished by the dissemination of educational materials on historic sites and state or federal facilities, and by the conduct, sponsorship or dissemination of information about musical and cultural events, featuring examples of American art, music and culture.

The events included in the programs consist of historic commemorative ceremonies, parades, erection of monuments, band concerts, festivals of American folklife, viewing of historic documents in public buildings, contemporary musical entertainment and fireworks displays. The entire program is non-political and non-partisan.

CONGRESS

Members of the Congress of the United States join in proclaiming July 4 as a day to HONOR AMERICA so that all freedom-loving Americans might demonstrate to the world that while we face problems as individuals, and as a nation, we are proud of our country and the accomplishments of our constitutional form of government.

GOVERNORS

Proclamations by Governors on the anniversary of independence make this Independence Day a particularly meaningful day to HONOR AMERICA with appropriate State house celebrations.

MAYORS

Inspired by the words of our First President, Mayors across the nation stimulate the American spirit of patriotism and respect for individual liberties, and call upon all citizens, service organizations, labor and management, churches, schools and lay groups to recognize this special day with appropriate observances. For only by honoring America's promise do we HONOR AMERICA itself.

LABOR AND MANAGEMENT

Leading participants in this annual program to HONOR AMERICA are representatives of our free enterprise society—the blue and the white collar workers (labor and management). Programs to HONOR AMERICA and those responsible for the fulfillment of human needs and freedom, remind us that economic repression is one of the indictments found in the Declaration of Independence. Labor's participation helps tell the nation that it must honor other founders than just the statesmen who argued the structures of our constitutional government into existence.

VETERANS, RELIGIOUS and CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS

Many organizations with existing celebrations starting on June 14, Flag Day, through July 4th, are encouraged to continue and expand these programs, to promote America and unity among all Americans as we approach the 200th anniversary of our independence on July 4, 1976. This year's 21-day salute in honor of the Flag and the birthday of the U.S.A. will be highlighted by the observance of these holidays.

NEWSPAPERS, RADIO, TV

What you see and hear about this 1975 program to HONOR AMERICA in a 21-day salute to Flag and Country, June 14 through July 4th, comes to you mainly through the media—newspapers, magazines, radio and television, all forms of print and mail. Read the editorials as well as the news pages, listen to your local radio, watch your TV for programs about the Spirit of '76... how you can participate in this splendid birthday present to each of us from all of us.

... AND YOU

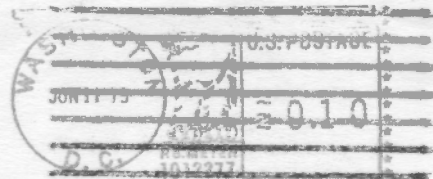

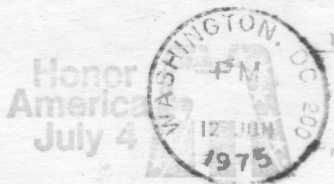

Communicate with your community leaders and officials about the celebration scheduled during this 21-day period. Has a proclamation been issued? What is your employer doing? Union officials? Special services at your place of worship? Town decorations? Games? Parades?

John Adams wrote the prescription for "this great anniversary festival" on July 3, 1776. You can help plan old-fashioned type celebrations in your area—community picnics and outings, neighborhood gatherings, block parties, family reunions and backyard cook-outs. Join in this non-partisan program of the American Historic and Cultural Society to HONOR AMERICA. As President Truman said in July 1970 when the program was founded: "It's time somebody did something like this for America." We hope you feel that way, too. Your cooperation and support are welcomed.

HERE ARE A FEW SUGGESTIONS:

- Adopt HONOR AMERICA celebrations in your community.
- Encourage the display of the American flag from June 14 through July 4.
- Invite local business leaders to include in their advertising an encouragement to their customers to join in the program to HONOR AMERICA.
- Encourage some sort of a locally sponsored program—some activity that will truly HONOR AMERICA.
- Develop a message for your local radio and television stations to encourage attendance at your celebration—and to encourage citizens to fly their American flags. ■

Dear Mr. Buchen:

Thanks for your recent letter. Our Honor America Committee is delighted that the President will be with us on July 3, 1976 at the Kennedy Center. We will do everything possible to make this a great occasion, one that will merit the attention of the whole nation as well as many parts of the world. We will only use his name in connection with the program of the event itself.

The recent decision in connection with Cambodia was certainly a good demonstration to the world that we mean business. I am sure everyone knows now that the President isn't going to let anyone push us around.

Best personal regards to you.

Dear Mr. Marriott:

It was a pleasure for me to meet with you yesterday to discuss the President's participation in Honor America Day which will involve a program on Saturday night, July 3, 1976, in the Kennedy Center.

This letter will confirm the willingness of President Ford to be Honorary Chairman of the event. As we discussed, this identification of the President with the program will not involve him with the board which is formed to plan the event, but will allow his designation as Honorary Chairman on the printed program for the event.

I wish you and Honor America much success in planning for this significant occasion.

Dear Leonard:

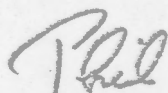

After our lunch last month I have learned that Robin West at the White House is in charge of developing procedures for making Medal of Freedom awards.

Therefore, I have sent him a copy of your letter of January 13 and have asked him to respond as soon as possible.

I have received several copies of Dorothy's splendid article on Sally Seidman. It made delightful reading and the only possible fault I could find with it came from Sally's mistake about my being a poet.

With best wishes.

Dear Phil

I want to confirm our discussion in which I outlined our tentative plans for the celebration on July 4, 1976. As I told you, we are keeping John Warner informed and as our plans develop, we shall let your offices know.

The American Historical and Cultural Society, sponsors of the Honor America Day, was formed as a non-profit organization in 1969 primarily to encourage a wider observance of our national day and to commemorate our heritage of liberty and freedom. Our efforts in the past have met with considerable praise by the President, Cabinet officers and numerous civic organizations. We regard the bicentennial year as a climax of our planning and sincerely believe it will be a high point in the Year 1976.

As part of our plans for the bicentennial program, I would like to urge upon you an idea which I have considered carefully and which I enthusiastically endorse - having President Ford inaugurate a new national custom by conferring the highest civilian award - the Medal of Freedom - on that day to those Americans who have distinguished themselves in private and governmental careers. As the records will show, the medal has been given by the President of the United States to people who have made distinctive contributions in the arts, sciences and community endeavors. Previous recipients of this award have cherished it as the ultimate recognition for their service to our country.

I recommend that on July 4, 1976 President Ford use this historic occasion to single out those Americans who have enriched our society and dedicated their lives to the improvement of mankind. The criteria for their selection has been previously determined and I would be glad to discuss with you the steps to be taken if the suggestion is adopted.

I would be grateful if you would bring these thoughts to the President's attention and let us know of his reaction.

PROCLAMATION

One hundred and ninety-nine years ago this fourth day of July the Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Continental Congress. This resolution, passed without one dissenting vote, meant that the 13 Colonies of America were united, free and independent. A new nation began its great experiment of liberty under law.

Now, this American experiment has produced the largest measure of freedom and the highest standard of living for more people than the world has ever known. But, we must never forget that our blessings are not self-perpetuating—they must be earned, over and over again, by continued attention to the principles upon which the United States of America was founded.

It is fitting that this Independence Day be dedicated to honoring these principles by a massive expression of appreciation for the blessings and strengths of this great democracy.

Therefore, by virtue of the powers vested in this office, I as Mayor, do hereby proclaim Friday, July 4, 1975, as a day to Honor America, and call upon all citizens—community and religious leaders, business and labor, schools and veterans organizations—to recognize this special day with appropriate programs and ceremonies.

Signed in the City of _____ this _____ day of _____, 1975.

- B. The first phase of the study, to make recommendations on circuit realignment, was completed in December, 1974 and resulted in the recommendation that two new judicial circuits be created by dividing the present Fifth and Ninth Circuits.

- C. The second phase of the study, to consider the structure and internal procedures of the Federal court of appeals system, resulted in a number of recommendations on subjects such as oral argument, opinion writing, central staff and eased requirements for taking senior status.
- D. The major recommendation contained in the Commission's Final Report calls for the creation of a National Court of Appeals. (The phrase "Mini Supreme Court", which has been used by the press, is objectionable to members of the Commission.)

THE WHITE HOUSE

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

I am pleased to have received today the Final Report of the Commission on Revision of the Federal Court Appellate System. The members of the Commission deserve the genuine appreciation of the country for the wisdom and the energy which they have devoted to this report.

One could not ask for a more dedicated chairman than Senator Roman L. Hruska. His able leadership during the entire life of the Commission is to be commended. The Commission itself is noteworthy, not only because of the superior quality of each of the members, but because it includes leading members of both Houses of Congress, distinguished judges, practitioners and members of the academic branch of the legal profession, thus bringing to bear a wide variety of viewpoints on the important problems which it considered.

It is significant that the Commission heard from individuals and organizations from all parts of the country. This process, and the resultant reports, have served to vividly portray the problems of the courts of appeals, and indeed of the Supreme Court as well.

Certainly, the importance of the Supreme Court, the Circuit Courts, and the Federal judicial system to our society -- and to our people -- cannot be overestimated. We owe these courts the fullest measure of support to assure that they function effectively to meet the ever-increasing demands which our society makes of them.

In the final analysis, our courts function for the well-being of the citizenry. The effective, efficient operation of the judicial system is essential to safeguard our rights and our liberties.

After extensive study, thoroughly documented in its report, the Commission has published its thoughtful and imaginative recommendations for change.

The major proposal calls for creation of a National Court of Appeals designed to increase the capacity of the Federal judicial system, to assure greater uniformity and less uncertainty in the law and to provide some measure of relief to the Supreme Court without impairing its function as our one Supreme Court.

I urge the Congress to give the Commission's recommendations serious study. Because of the importance of these proposals, I pledge the cooperation of the Executive Branch in the course of that review by the Congress.

AGENDA

1. President welcomes guests.
2. Senator Hruska introduces Commission members.
Pays special tribute to Congressman Celler, who was one of the major architects of the bill creating the Commission. Notes his half-century of service in the House, much of it with the President.

[Photo opportunity]
3. Senator Hruska presents report to the President, Senate, House, Chief Justice.
4. Brief responses by each as follows:
Congressman Rodino will accept on behalf of the House.
Senator McClellan will accept on behalf of the Senate.
Chief Justice.
5. President thanks Senator Hruska and Members of Commission.
6. Discussion follows.

TALKING POINTS

1. This is probably one of the few times that the actual printed version of the report of a commission was filed on time (copies will be available).
2. The first phase of the study on the geographic boundaries of the circuit courts was also completed in timely fashion (December 1973 -- transmitted, among others, to then-Vice President Ford).
3. The recommendation on Circuit Court realignment would create two new judicial circuits by dividing the present Fifth and Ninth Circuits.

Fifth [Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama
Georgia and Florida]

Ninth [California, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon,
Washington, Idaho and Montana]

4. How would partitions be accomplished? What were the alternatives?
5. The principal reasons behind the recommendation on circuit court realignment were: (1) extraordinary workload; and (2) large geographic area. Ask for some details.
6. What would be the basic structure of the proposed National Court of Appeals?

[Seven-man, permanent court appointed by President with advice and consent of Senate]

7. Ask for explanation of jurisdiction of proposed National Court of Appeals.

[Referral from Supreme Court or transfer from present Courts of Appeal]

8. Explore possible benefits of a National Court of Appeals.

[Minimize inter-circuit disparities; eliminate uncertainty; reduce workload of Supreme Court]

9. With Chief Justice -- what are the views of Justices of Supreme Court on a National Court of Appeals?

[Contained in Final Report -- Chief Justice and four other Justices generally favor concept]

10. Discuss preliminary reactions of the bar, press and public.

[mixed]

11. Ask for other recommendations of the Commission.

[On subjects such as necessity and desirability of oral argument; need and desirability of opinion writing, etc.]

12. What are Senator Hruska's plans for legislation?

[Circuit realignment bill already under consideration in Congress; additional legislation to be introduced covering recommendations in Final Report]
