Tuesday 12/3/74

9:34 Charlie Joyce called concerning the National Commission on Electronic Funds Transfer, which was established by a bill (H. R. 11221), which the President signed on October 28. (See attached note of previous call from George Glaser, which Charlie took care of for us.)

Charlie has never received a letter from Glaser, which Glaser said he would be writing to the President, with a copy to you and a copy to Charlie Joyce.

Charlie has had calls from many computer people to ask how to make inputs. He doesn't know what to tell them or who to contact.

I checked again with our Records section, and they now have copies of the bill, which they will send over.

Tuesday 11/12/74

4:10 Returned George Glaser's call of yesterday to Mr. Buchen. (415) 342-4133
Mr. Glaser is the President of AFIPS

He said they had seen the recent announcement of the Presidential commission on electronic funds transfer. (about a week ago)
(Now a ^{National} Commission on electronic fund transfers. The AFIPS Board of Directors discussed this the other day; they have a fund transfer project and are in touch with the Federal Reserve. The Board passed a resolution urging the President to include in appointments by the President to this Commission one or more technical persons. There is no one designated now for the Commission who comes from a computer related agency. There are however five positions on the Commission to be appointed as representatives of the private sector. He said: "We were hoping that we could urge the President to put someone who knows about computers on the Commission." I suggested possibly writing a letter to Mr. Buchen -- and suggested I would check with Charlie Joyce first. Checked with Charlie Joyce and he is familiar with the bill and would talk with Mr. Glaser if he called. Said there is indeed a bill -- H. R. 11221, an act to increase deposit insurance to establish ----- electronic fund transfers. Wasn't sure it was signed. Called Jerry Jones' office who said the bill was signed by the President on October 28.

Checked with Tom Jones for a copy; they advise GPO is more than a week behind on printing so it may be another week before we get a copy.

Gave Charlie Joyce the bill number and the date of signing; he said he would talk to Glaser. Glaser talked with him and will write a letter to the President, with a copy to Mr. Buchen and Mr. Joyce.

When Glaser comes to town within the near future, he will meet with Mr. Joyce.

"(a) If a creditor, within sixty days after having transmitted to an obligor a statement of the obligor's account in connection with an extension of consumer credit, receives at the address disclosed under section 127(b)(11) a written notice (other than notice on a payment stub or other payment medium supplied by the creditor if the creditor so stipulates with the disclosure required under section 127(a)(8)) from the obligor in which the obligor—

"(1) sets forth or otherwise enables the creditor to identify the name and account number (if any) of the obligor,

"(2) indicates the obligor's belief that the statement contains a billing error and the amount of such billing error, and

"(3) sets forth the reasons for the obligor's belief (to the extent applicable) that the statement contains a billing error, the creditor shall, unless the obligor has, after giving such written notice and before the expiration of the time limits herein specified, agreed that the statement was correct—

"(A) not later than thirty days after the receipt of the notice, send a written acknowledgement thereof to the obligor, unless the action required in subparagraph (B) is taken within such thirty-day period, and the obligor or his designee in accordance with the agreement made at the time of the transaction, a creditor may not construe such amount to be correctly shown unless he determines that such goods were actually delivered, mailed, or otherwise sent to the obligor and provides the obligor with a statement of such determination.

After complying with the provisions of this subsection with respect to an alleged billing error, a creditor has no further responsibility under this section if the obligor continues to make substantially the same allegation with respect to such error.

Definitions.

“(b) For the purpose of this section, a ‘billing error’ consists of any of the following:

“(1) A reflection on a statement of an extension of credit which was not made to the obligor or, if made, was not in the amount reflected on such statement.

“(2) A reflection on a statement of an extension of credit for which the obligor requests additional clarification including documentary evidence thereof.

“(3) A reflection on a statement of goods or services not accepted by the obligor or his designee or not delivered to the obligor or his designee in accordance with the agreement made at the time of a transaction.

“(4) The creditor’s failure to reflect properly on a statement a payment made by the obligor or a credit issued to the obligor.

“(5) A computation error or similar error of an accounting nature of the creditor on a statement.

“(6) Any other error described in regulations of the Board.

“(c) For the purposes of this section, ‘action to collect the amount, or any part thereof, indicated by an obligor under paragraph (2)’ does not include the sending of statements of account to the obligor following written notice from the obligor as specified under subsection (a), if—

“(1) the obligor’s account is not restricted or closed because of the failure of the obligor to pay the amount indicated under paragraph (2) of subsection (a), and

“(2) the creditor indicates the payment of such amount is not required pending the creditor’s compliance with this section.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit any action by a creditor to collect any amount which has not been indicated by the obligor to contain a billing error.

“(d) Pursuant to regulations of the Board, a creditor operating an open end consumer credit plan may not, prior to the sending of the written explanation or clarification required under paragraph (B) (ii), restrict or close an account with respect to which the obligor has indicated pursuant to subsection (a) that he believes such account to contain a billing error solely because of the obligor’s failure to pay the amount indicated to be in error. Nothing in this subsection shall be deemed to prohibit a creditor from applying against the credit limit on the obligor’s account the amount indicated to be in error.

Noncompliance.

“(e) Any creditor who fails to comply with the requirements of this section or section 162 forfeits any right to collect from the obligor the amount indicated by the obligor under paragraph (2) of subsection (a) of this section, and any finance charges thereon, except that the amount required to be forfeited under this subsection may not exceed $50.

“§ 162. Regulation of credit reports

15 USC 1666a.

“(a) After receiving a notice from an obligor as provided in section 161(a), a creditor or his agent may not directly or indirectly threaten to report to any person adversely on the obligor’s credit rating or credit standing because of the obligor’s failure to pay the amount indicated by the obligor under section 161(a)(2), and such amount may not be reported as delinquent to any third party until the creditor has met the requirements of section 161 and has allowed the obligor the same number of days (not less than ten) thereafter to make payment as is provided under the credit agreement with the obligor for the payment of undisputed amounts.

“(b) If a creditor receives a further written notice from an obligor that an amount is still in dispute within the time allowed for payment under subsection (a) of this section, a creditor may not report to any third party that the amount of the obligor is delinquent because the obligor has failed to pay an amount which he has indicated under section 161(a)(2), unless the creditor also reports that the amount is in dispute and, at the same time, notifies the obligor of the name and address of each party to whom the creditor is reporting information concerning the delinquency.

“(c) A creditor shall report any subsequent resolution of any delinquencies reported pursuant to subsection (b) to the parties to whom such delinquencies were initially reported.

“§ 163. Length of billing period

“(a) If an open end consumer credit plan provides a time period within which an obligor may repay any portion of the credit extended without incurring an additional finance charge, such additional finance charge may not be imposed with respect to such portion of the credit extended for the billing cycle of which such period is a part unless a statement which includes the amount upon which the finance charge for that period is based was mailed at least fourteen days prior to the date specified in the statement by which payment must be made in order to avoid imposition of that finance charge.

15 USC 1666b.

“(b) Subsection (a) does not apply in any case where a creditor has been prevented, delayed, or hindered in making timely mailing or delivery of such periodic statement within the time period specified in such subsection because of an act of God, war, natural disaster, strike, or other excusable or justifiable cause, as determined under regulations of the Board.

“§ 164. Prompt crediting of payments

“Payments received from an obligor under an open end consumer credit plan by the creditor shall be posted promptly to the obligor’s account as specified in regulations of the Board. Such regulations shall prevent a finance charge from being imposed on any obligor if the creditor has received the obligor’s payment in readily identifiable form in the amount, manner, location, and time indicated by the creditor to avoid the imposition thereof.

15 USC 1666c.

“§ 165. Crediting excess payments

“Whenever an obligor transmits funds to a creditor in excess of the total balance due on an open end consumer credit account, the creditor shall promptly (1) upon request of the obligor refund the amount of the overpayment, or (2) credit such amount to the obligor’s account.

15 USC 1666d.

“§ 166. Prompt notification of returns

“With respect to any sales transaction where a credit card has been used to obtain credit, where the seller is a person other than the card issuer, and where the seller accepts or allows a return of the goods or forgiveness of a debit for services which were the subject of such sale, the seller shall promptly transmit to the credit card issuer, a credit statement with respect thereto and the credit card issuer shall credit the account of the obligor for the amount of the transaction.

15 USC 1666e.

15 USC 1666f.

“§ 167. Use of cash discounts

“(a) With respect to credit card which may be used for extensions of credit in sales transactions in which the seller is a person other than the card issuer, the card issuer may not, by contract or otherwise, prohibit any such seller from offering a discount to a cardholder to induce the cardholder to pay by cash, check, or similar means rather than use a credit card.

“(b) With respect to any sales transaction, any discount not in excess of 5 per centum offered by the seller for the purpose of inducing payment by cash, check, or other means not involving the use of a credit card shall not constitute a finance charge as determined under section 106, if such discount is offered to all prospective buyers and its availability is disclosed to all prospective buyers clearly and conspicuously in accordance with regulations of the Board.

15 USC 1666g.

“§ 168. Prohibition of tie-in services

“Notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary, a card issuer may not require a seller, as a condition to participating in a credit card plan, to open an account with or procure any other service from the card issuer or its subsidiary or agent.

15 USC 1666h.

“§ 169. Prohibition of offsets

“(a) A card issuer may not take any action to offset a cardholder's indebtedness arising in connection with a consumer credit transaction under the relevant credit card plan against funds of the cardholder held on deposit with the card issuer unless—

“(1) such action was previously authorized in writing by the cardholder in accordance with a credit plan whereby the cardholder agrees periodically to pay debts incurred in his open end credit account by permitting the card issuer periodically to deduct all or a portion of such debt from the cardholder's deposit account, and

“(2) such action with respect to any outstanding disputed amount not be taken by the card issuer upon request of the cardholder.

In the case of any credit card account in existence on the effective date of this section, the previous written authorization referred to in clause (1) shall not be required until the date (after such effective date) when such account is renewed, but in no case later than one year after such effective date. Such written authorization shall be deemed to exist if the card issuer has previously notified the cardholder that the use of his credit card account will subject any funds which the card issuer holds in deposit accounts of such cardholder to offset against any amounts due and payable on his credit card account which have not been paid in accordance with the terms of the agreement between the card issuer and the cardholder.

“(b) This section does not alter or affect the right under State law of a card issuer to attach or otherwise levy upon funds of a cardholder held on deposit with the card issuer if that remedy is constitutionally available to creditors generally.

“§ 170. Rights of credit card customers

“(a) Subject to the limitation contained in subsection (b), a card issuer who has issued a credit card to a cardholder pursuant to an open end consumer credit plan shall be subject to all claims (other than tort claims) and defenses arising out of any transaction in which the credit card is used as a method of payment or extension of credit if (1) the obligor has made a good faith attempt to obtain satisfactory resolution of a disagreement or problem relative to the transaction from the person honoring the credit card; (2) the amount of the initial transaction exceeds $50; and (3) the place where the initial transaction occurred was in the same State as the mailing address previously provided by the cardholder or was within 100 miles from such address, except that the limitations set forth in clauses (2) and (3) with respect to an obligor's right to assert claims and defenses against a card issuer shall not be applicable to any transaction in which the person honoring the credit card (A) is the same person as the card issuer, (B) is controlled by the card issuer, (C) is under direct or indirect common control with the card issuer, (D) is a franchised dealer in the card issuer's products or services, or (E) has obtained the order for such transaction through a mail solicitation made by or participated in by the card issuer in which the cardholder is solicited to enter into such transaction by using the credit card issued by the card issuer.

“(b) The amount of claims or defenses asserted by the cardholder may not exceed the amount of credit outstanding with respect to such transaction at the time the cardholder first notifies the card issuer or the person honoring the credit card of such claim or defense. For the purpose of determining the amount of credit outstanding in the preceding sentence, payments and credits to the cardholder's account are deemed to have been applied, in the order indicated, to the payment of: (1) late charges in the order of their entry to the account; (2) finance charges in order of their entry to the account; and (3) debits to the account other than those set forth above, in the order in which each debit entry to the account was made.

“§ 171. Relation to State laws

“(a) This chapter does not annul, alter, or affect, or exempt any person subject to the provisions of this chapter from complying with, the laws of any State with respect to credit billing practices, except to the extent that those laws are inconsistent with any provision of this chapter, and then only to the extent of the inconsistency. The Board is authorized to determine whether such inconsistencies exist. The Board may not determine that any State law is inconsistent with any provision of this chapter if the Board determines that such law gives greater protection to the consumer.

“(b) The Board shall by regulation exempt from the requirements of this chapter any class of credit transactions within any State if it determines that under the law of that State that class of transactions is subject to requirements substantially similar to those imposed under this chapter or that such law gives greater protection to the consumer, and that there is adequate provision for enforcement.”

TITLE V—EQUAL CREDIT OPPORTUNITY§ 501. Short title

This title may be cited as the “Equal Credit Opportunity Act”.

Equal Credit
Opportunity
Act.

§ 502. Findings and purpose

The Congress finds that there is a need to insure that the various financial institutions and other firms engaged in the extensions of credit exercise their responsibility to make credit available with fairness, impartiality, and without discrimination on the basis of sex or marital status. Economic stabilization would be enhanced and competition among the various financial institutions and other firms engaged in the extension of credit would be strengthened by an absence of discrimination on the basis of sex or marital status, as well as by the informed use of credit which Congress has heretofore sought to promote. It is the purpose of this Act to require that financial institutions and other firms engaged in the extension of credit make that credit equally available to all creditworthy customers without regard to sex or marital status.

TITLE VI—DISPOSITION OF ABANDONED MONEY
ORDERS AND TRAVELER'S CHECKS

FINDINGS

12 USC 2501.

SEC. 601. The Congress finds and declares that—

(1) the books and records of banking and financial organizations and business associations engaged in issuing and selling money orders and traveler's checks do not, as a matter of business practice, show the last known addresses of purchasers of such instruments;

(2) a substantial majority of such purchasers reside in the States where such instruments are purchased;

(3) the States wherein the purchasers of money orders and traveler's checks reside should, as a matter of equity among the several States, be entitled to the proceeds of such instruments in the event of abandonment;

(4) it is a burden on interstate commerce that the proceeds of such instruments are not being distributed to the States entitled thereto; and

(5) the cost of maintaining and retrieving addresses of purchasers of money orders and traveler's checks is an additional burden on interstate commerce since it has been determined that most purchasers reside in the State of purchase of such instruments.

DEFINITIONS

12 USC 2502.

SEC. 602. As used in this title—

(1) “banking organization” means any bank, trust company, savings bank, safe deposit company, or a private banker engaged in business in the United States;

(2) “business association” means any corporation (other than a public corporation), joint stock company, business trust, partnership, or any association for business purposes of two or more individuals; and

(3) “financial organization” means any savings and loan association, building and loan association, credit union, or investment company engaged in business in the United States.

STATE ENTITLED TO ESCHEAT OR TAKE CUSTODY

12 USC 2503.

SEC. 603. Where any sum is payable on a money order, traveler's check, or other similar written instrument (other than a third party bank check) on which a banking or financial organization or a business association is directly liable—

(1) if the books and records of such banking or financial organization or business association show the State in which such money order, traveler's check, or similar written instrument was purchased, that State shall be entitled exclusively to escheat or take custody of the sum payable on such instrument, to the extent of that State's power under its own laws to escheat or take custody of such sum;

(2) if the books and records of such banking or financial organization or business association do not show the State in which such money order, traveler's check, or similar written instrument was purchased, the State in which the banking or financial organization or business association has its principal place of business shall be entitled to escheat or take custody of the sum payable on such money order, traveler's check, or similar written instrument, to the extent of that State's power under its own laws to escheat or take custody of such sum, until another State shall demonstrate by written evidence that it is the State of purchase; or

(3) if the books and records of such banking or financial organizations or business association show the State in which such money order, traveler's check, or similar written instrument was purchased and the laws of the State of purchase do not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the sum payable on such instrument, the State in which the banking or financial organization or business association has its principal place of business shall be entitled to escheat or take custody of the sum payable on such money order, traveler's check, or similar written instrument, to the extent of that State's power under its own laws to escheat or take custody of such sum, subject to the right of the State of purchase to recover such sum from the State of principal place of business if and when the law of the State of purchase makes provision for escheat or custodial taking of such sum.

APPLICABILITY

SEC. 604. This title shall be applicable to sums payable on money orders, traveler's checks, and similar written instruments deemed abandoned on or after February 1, 1965, except to the extent that such sums have been paid over to a State prior to January 1, 1974.

9:34 Charlie Joyce called concerning the National Commission on Electronic Funds Transfer, which was established by a bill (H. R. 11221), which the President signed on October 28. (See attached note of previous call from George Glaser, which Charlie took care of for us.)

Charlie has never received a letter from Glaser, which Glaser said he would be writing to the President, with a copy to you and a copy to Charlie Joyce.

Charlie has had calls from many computer people to ask how to make inputs. He doesn't know what to tell them or who to contact.

I checked again with our Records section, and they now have copies of the bill, which they will send over.

Tuesday 11/12/74

4:10 Returned George Glaser's call of yesterday to Mr. Buchen. (415) 342-4133
Mr. Glaser is the President of AFIPS

He said they had seen the recent announcement of the Presidential commission on electronic funds transfer. (about a week ago)
(Now a ^{National} Commission on electronic fund transfers. The AFIPS Board of Directors discussed this the other day; they have a fund transfer project and are in touch with the Federal Reserve. The Board passed a resolution urging the President to include in appointments by the President to this Commission one or more technical persons. There is no one designated now for the Commission who comes from a computer related agency. There are however five positions on the Commission to be appointed as representatives of the private sector. He said: "We were hoping that we could urge the President to put someone who knows about computers on the Commission." I suggested possibly writing a letter to Mr. Buchen -- and suggested I would check with Charlie Joyce first. Checked with Charlie Joyce and he is familiar with the bill and would talk with Mr. Glaser if he called. Said there is indeed a bill -- H. R. 11221, an act to increase deposit insurance to establish ----- electronic fund transfers. Wasn't sure it was signed. Called Jerry Jones' office who said the bill was signed by the President on October 28.

Checked with Tom Jones for a copy; they advise GPO is more than a week behind on printing so it may be another week before we get a copy.

Gave Charlie Joyce the bill number and the date of signing; he said he would talk to Glaser. Glaser talked with him and will write a letter to the President, with a copy to Mr. Buchen and Mr. Joyce.

When Glaser comes to town within the near future, he will meet with Mr. Joyce.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Bill Walker

FROM: Philip Buchen

SUBJECT: National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers

Attached is a letter from Willis H. Ware of the Rand Corporation, expressing some thoughts about appointments to be made to this Commission.

I think he has made a valid point that the data processing people should be represented. Also, as you may remember, Vice President Ford made a major address on the right of privacy to the national meeting of the American Federation of Information Processing Societies in Chicago during the month of May 1974. At that time he assured the groups involved in that convention that he was concerned to have their strong interest in the right of privacy reflected within the Federal government on all matters substantially affecting informational privacy. Certainly the use of electronic fund transfer systems would have such an effect.

Dear Phil:

I'd like to make the following suggestion to you privately. I've seen recent publicity concerning the National Commission to Study the Electronic Fund Transfer System. I'd like to express the following view on it -- which maybe you've heard from me before.

To me, the EFTS proposal by the banking industry is another example of a major decision with intense societal impact that is being made by an industry for its own expedience and convenience, but without adequate consideration of the implications for society and individuals. The information that I have seen on the Commission tends to support this view in that it would appear the Commission will be populated largely by members of the banking and other financial institutions. I do not see any suggestion, for example, that the group will include social psychologists, sociologists, or even data processing people who, as you know, are very concerned about the civil libertarian and privacy consequences of something like an EFTS.

I would ask that you use your good offices to help assure that the Commission reflects a balanced group of people that will produce a study that looks adequately at all aspects of the proposal rather than one that simply looks at the positive attributes of it as seen from the vantage point of the country's financial industry. If you would like suggestions for possible participants from the data processing community, I might suggest that you contact Dr. George

I continue to see Doug Metz and Carole Parsons and David Martin at frequent intervals, so I'm well up to date on developments on the privacy front. Let's hope things go through smoothly before the end of the year.

Phil -

We talked after my letter to you had been typed so I'm sending it primarily as a reminder of our conversation.

My letter to the President is directed to the attention of Mr. Walker as you suggested.

We have four candidates to recommend if we are asked; one of them is me. But any one of us would be able to offer a combination of technical and business experience that we believe could be helpful.

Again, many thanks for your help.

Dear Phil:

The attached letter to the President conveys the substance of a resolution passed by the AFIPS Board of Directors concerning the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers. I'm sending you a copy because I would be very grateful for any assistance you might give us in seeing that the proper individual on the President's staff is aware of our offer to help and our request that someone with a background in computer and communications technologies be appointed to the Commission. In particular, we would welcome the opportunity to suggest several candidates from private life for appointment to the Commission, if that would be helpful.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Daughtrey of your staff, I also am sending a copy of the attached letter to Mr. Charles C. Joyce in the Office of Telecommunications Policy. I have alerted Mr. Joyce that our letter was forthcoming and, although he obviously could not guarantee that the President would accept our suggestion, he did indicate that he would follow up on our letter upon its arrival at the White House.

I very much appreciate any assistance you might give us and I look forward to seeing you again. Best of luck with your new duties.

Sincerely,

The President

Washington, D. C. 20500

Mr. President:

Last May, you addressed AFIPS' National Computer Conference in Chicago on the mission of the Domestic Council Committee on the Right of Privacy. We enjoyed that occasion very much and were honored by your presence.

You will recall that in your Chicago speech you invited AFIPS and its Constituent Societies to become involved in the work of the Domestic Council Committee on the Right of Privacy. We accepted your invitation and subsequently began a dialogue with Philip Buchen while he served as Executive Director of the Committee; that dialogue has continued with his successor. Mr. Buchen has expressed his appreciation for our help; we, in turn, are most grateful for the opportunity you gave us.

As the leading professional society in the information processing industry, AFIPS would now like to offer its assistance to you in the work of the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers. To this end, our Board of Directors has passed a resolution (copy attached) expressing its recognition of the importance of the issues surrounding fund transfers and pledging its assistance in whatever fashion you deem most appropriate. The Board also respectfully urges you to appoint to the Commission one or more individuals from private life who have an understanding of computer and communications technologies and their potential economic and social consequences. We do so because we believe that the Commission will be faced with a number of complex technical issues during the course of its deliberations, and that it could function most effectively if individuals with the appropriate technical backgrounds were included among its members.

Should we be invited, we would be pleased to suggest candidates from among the nearly 100,000 professional members of our fifteen Constituent Societies.

Respectfully yours,

George Glaser

Dear Mr. Joyce:

Several weeks ago, we discussed the fact that I would be writing to the President to convey a resolution passed by the AFIPS Board of Directors offering to help in the work of the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers, and urging the President to appoint to the Commission one or more individuals from private life who have backgrounds in computer and communications technologies. A copy of that letter is attached. I would sincerely appreciate any assistance you might give us in seeing that it comes to the attention of the appropriate member of the President's staff.

I also have sent a copy to Mr. Philip Buchen who, as former Executive Director of the Domestic Council Committee on the Right of Privacy, has had some recent experience in working with AFIPS volunteers. Should you have any questions about that experience, I hope you will contact him.

I also am enclosing a copy of a brochure that will give you some idea of the breadth and depth of technical specialties represented among our members. Although the brochure is a recent one, it is already out of date; the Data Processing Management Association and the Institute of Internal Auditors have joined AFIPS since the brochure was printed.

Please call me if you wish to suggest any further action we might take. We are very grateful for your help.

Sincerely,

George Glaser

Dear Phil:

I thought about trying to reach you by phone, but decided against it because I know your schedule must approximate the impossible. I'd like to give you another suggestion with regard to the EFTS Commission.

As I quickly learned from the HEW Committee activity, a very competent and efficient Executive Secretary is an absolute must on a committee exercise of any substantial size. The EFTS Commission will just have to be supported by a very capable secretariat or it will very quickly bog down in nitty-gritty details. I know none of that is news to you. In this connection, I would like to recommend to you David B. H. Martin as a very thorough and efficient person for the EFTS Commission Executive Secretary. I understand from talking with David recently that he will be leaving HEW about the first of the year; and from his point of view, therefore, the timing would be very convenient.

I have enclosed for your information a biographical data sheet on him, and it speaks for itself. However, I would like to emphasize some of the strong points that I personally found in David's performance for the HEW group. First of all, he was very thorough and aggressive in seeking out individuals and organizations that had points of view to be presented to the group. Secondly, he performed very heroically during a trying period for the Committee when it was running essentially without a Chairperson. Third, and very importantly from my point of view, when it came time to construct the final report, I found

David to be a very effective person, not only in contributing to the substance of the report, but also in actually writing the material. At the peak of our activity, he was coordinating and managing a group of probably half a dozen individuals, each of whom was writing various sections and appendices for our book. As you will note from his biography, his background is very well suited to a task such as the EFTS Commission. Because of his service in various legislative posts, he is very familiar with government operations and with the political overlay that controls how things are done. As a result of his tour of duty at HEW, he has become very keenly tuned to the social implications and consequences of technology, especially computer-based technology. As you know, I regard this as an essential component of the EFTS examination. While his exposure to the financial community is minimal, I would argue this is an attribute because one can then look at the situation without the traditional and historic blinders of an individual steeped in the business.

As you can tell from my comments, my recommendation of David Martin for the EFTS Secretariat is without reservation and as strong as I can possibly convey in words. If it would be helpful, I would be glad to discuss this further as you might require.

I'll take this opportunity to wish you and your family the finest of Christmas holidays and the best success in your many undertakings for the New Year.

Sincerely,

Willis H. Ware

Thank you very much for your letter concerning the qualifications of Dick Francis for appointment to the Presidential Commission on Electronic Funds Transfer Operations.

I have sent a copy of your letter to the Director, Office of Presidential Appointments so that recommendation of Mr. Francis can be added to the others who favor this appointment.

I became interested in this subject when I was working on the staff of the Vice President's Committee on the Right of Privacy, but since August I have had little time to pursue developments in this area.

I look forward to seeing you again when I return to Michigan and I am sending my best regards,

Re: Presidential Commission on Electronic Funds Transfer Operations

Dear Phil:

This is directed to you as the result of your proximity to the throne and with the hope that you will see that it goes in the right pigeonhole or even give the matter a nudge if it seems appropriate. Incidentally, it gives all of us in the Middlewest a great deal of reassurance to know that the Washington directions are designed to some extent by Michigan lawyers. Perhaps this minor matter fits in some category under your jurisdiction.

The point of my request is the prospective appointments of twenty or thirty people from the financial industry to a Commission to study the matter of the electronic transfer of funds and its impact on the banking system. I believe that the study is instigated by the possibilities of the use of credit card type documents to be issued by banks which will provide instant credit or deposits through electronic media to be situated in supermarkets and similar locations.

While I was in Lansing the other day on a banking matter, I had dinner with my friend, Dick Francis, who is now the Financial Institutions Commissioner for the State of Michigan (responsible for the savings and loan industry, the banking industry, and credit unions). I've known Dick as the result of his service as General Counsel and Vice President of Michigan Life Insurance Company during the last ten or fifteen years in which I've served on the Board of Directors of that company. When Michigan was in need of an Insurance Commissioner I recommended Dick Francis to Bill Milliken for that job, but Bill in his wisdom had seen fit to fill the Commissioner offices from people outside the industry affected rather than within the industry. As a result he utilized Dick Francis' services as the Financial Institutions head, rather than in the insurance field.

Dick Francis has devoted a great deal of study to an area in which he was ill-informed when he took office. He recently made a good decision on a tough issue involving the so-called loan-production offices of the Michigan National Bank in which he categorized them as branches and thus subject to control, rather than a non-branch office. His decisions in that regard and other matters have been complimented recently in an article appearing in the American Banker, a national industry publication. He's been a student of, and is interested in the problems of electronic transfer of funds, and his appointment to the Presidential Commission would be useful to the public and fits in his framework of interest.

If there's anything you can do to help in regard to such an appointment, I'd be most grateful and I'm sure he would. I know personally that he's favored for such an appointment by both the savings and loan and the banking industries in Michigan, each of which will be affected. Look forward to a visit with you when you come home. Best regards.

Sincerely,

Harry Calcutt
