In a Time magazine interview published yesterday, First Lady Betty Ford criticized Nancy Reagan, wife of the defeated Republican presidential challenger, Ronald Reagan, for her traditional view of a woman's role. "I just think when Nancy met Ronnie, that was it as far as her own life was concerned," Time quoted Mrs. Ford as saying. "She fell apart at the seams."

Mrs. Ford said she tried unsuccessfully to have the ambassador to Great Britain, Anne Armstrong, chosen as Mr. Ford's running mate and that she would continue to work for the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. She also said she would lobby for a salary for the work of the First Lady, after she is no longer in that position. "It has long hours and a lot of responsibilities," she commented about the work. "But I would have it so that a First Lady can't collect unless she works."

Mrs. Reagan says in an interview in the same issue of Time that she is upset by her image as a homebody who always defers to her husband. She says she has spoken out on political issues, especially foreign policy.

Beatle Paul McCartney, his wife, Linda, and actor Jack Nicholson were among an estimated 250,000 rock fans who sat through a 16-hour pop music festival billed as possibly the final concert by the Rolling Stones held in a park on the grounds of an estate at Knebworth, England. "Warm-up" groups such as Hot Tuna and 10 CC played for about 14 hours before the Stones reached the stage early yesterday morning. The jeans-and-T-shirt-clad audience which paid $8.10 per person to get in, reportedly bought and sold marijuana and other drugs openly, although police said there were few drug arrests. Organizers put the gate at $1.35 million, and the Stones were somewhat optimistic about playing again. "If all these people still want to see us," commented Mich Jagger of the Stones, "who knows what will happen."

As the 50th anniversary of the death of silent screen star Rudolph Valentino rolls by today, ballet star Rudolf Nureyev is portraying the romantic star in a movie, "Valentino," on the life and times of the actor, currently being filmed in England and Spain.

Feminist author Betty Friedan called it "a good sign" when Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter this week sent telegrams urging passage of the Equal Rights Amendment to Democratic chairmen of the 16 states that have not ratified ERA.

Speaking yesterday to 50 persons at a Washington Press Club luncheon, Friedan said that when Carter neglected to mention support of the ERA in his acceptance speech last month, she "wondered whether he was speaking out of both sides of his mouth" because earlier Carter had given her his personal assurance that he supported ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment.

She said that while President Ford's "commitment to passage of the ERA has seemed real" his vetoes of legislation for child care and welfare funds have to be considered.

Friedan said she thought the women's vote could decide the winner in the November elections.

Some 2,000 senior citizens walked out on Golden Age Day at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver, Canada, because they felt that comedienne Phyllis Diller, who had come to entertain them, was tasteless.

"All she talked about was breasts and knees, sex and Kleenex," said one of the spectators who demanded his $1 admission fee back. "I didn't come here to listen to that." However, some 4,000 other senior citizens apparently did. They stayed through the 40-minute act.

Tom Keating, the British artist who wrote a letter to The London Times last week saying he'd faked a number of works by the 19th-century painter Samuel Palmer, yesterday called a press conference to announce that during the past 25 years he actually produced more than 2,000 bogus masterpieces.

Keating, 59, said a number of his imitations have been sold as genuine, and held that up as proof of the success of his long campaign to dupe and discredit art dealers he claims exploit artists.

Keating was reported beaming broadly throughout the London news conference. But asked if he felt remorse, he said, "Very much so. It's not really a joke. I'm sorry about it. I've wasted years of my life."

Eisabeth Ritter, 39, and Sandor Rasky, 31, who have been getting married daily as the actors in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus's "Marriage of Tom Thumb," got married for real yesterday, in Ring Two of the Oakland Coliseum Arena in California.

The couple, both of whom are 40-inch-tall Hungarians, said they don't plan to have babies because the circus is no place to bring up children.

George Supensky, the new finance director of the City of Miami, Fla., made a calculation and his last financial pronouncement on the city.

"I can't afford to live in Miami," said Supensky, who took the $34,750 a year job in May. He had previously been finance director of Memphis, Tenn., and had not yet moved his family from Memphis to Miami when he learned that "to replace my house down here would cost me in excess of $100,000."

"We have a certain lifestyle we like to maintain. I can't see lowering that lifestyle to live in the Miami area," said Supensky, who is preparing to join his family in Memphis instead of the other way around.

First Lady Betty Ford "stayed too long in the cool mountain air at a picnic" in Vail, Colo., Wednesday, her press secretary said, and her neck ailment has flared up again. In addition to the picnic, Mrs. Ford had been playing touch football with the Secret Service and putting on a floor show with a member of the Ink Spots at a Vail discotheque.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale said in a St. Paul, Minn., press conference that he has hypertension, for which he takes five pills a day, but that he is in good health and has been told "it's a modest case and there's no reason to think it will get any worse."

—Ike Ward has stern words for all you citizens too indifferent or lazy to vote. "I believe if a person wants to be recognized as an American, then he ought to vote. And Ward, whose first ballot was cast for Grover Cleveland, added, "If you aren't registered, then you shouldn't be able to live in the United States." Ward was born a plantation slave at Boxley, Ga. His birth certificate records it at 9 a.m. on Christmas Day, 1862. He is 113. Sitting in the shade of the oaks that surround his tiny home in Seville, Fla., Ward commented that he has always voted a straight Democratic ticket, but he defends Gerald Ford against attack. Ward also has views on women and the ballot. "I've been married 16 times. Not one ever voted that I knew of," he said with a sigh. "But I don't remember politics having anything to do with getting married or divorcing them."

—First Lady Betty Ford took a break in Vail, Colo., from answering a huge pile of mail and planning her campaign travels to visit a musical group rehearsing "Up With People" and wish them luck and then have lunch with friends.

—Actress Sylvia Sidney has been admitted to Danbury Hospital in Danbury, Conn., with an undisclosed illness, although a spokesman said she was in fair condition. Miss Sidney, 66, who began her career on the Broadway stage, appeared in many films in the 1930s and 1940s, including "An American Tragedy," "Street Scene," "Dead End" and "Summer Wishes, Winter Dreams."

—Singer Kate Smith was in satisfactory condition in Terrace Heights Hospital in Queens, N.Y., where she was being treated for an upper respiratory infection and tracheobronchitis. Miss Smith, 67, was transferred from Boulevard Hospital on Tuesday, after having been admitted there over the last weekend.

—Madalyn Murray O'Hair perhaps best remembered as the one who brought the landmark suit that led to the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that banned compulsory prayers in public schools, left Austin, Tex., for a six-week speaking tour of Europe and said she would meet with government officials about atheists' rights.

—Asked if she could do it over again would she again speak out, the answer was "No, I definitely would not, because Mr. Hays has suffered a lot. His wife has suffered and I myself have suffered a lot." Discussing the resignation of Rep. Wayne L. Gov. Exon's Wife Hopes Worms Turn —"Impaling worms to torture fish," is how playwright George Colman once brushed off the art of angling. But you can't fish without bait, and one little publicized effect of this summer's drought, complains Pat Exon, is that it has dried up her personal supply of worms. "It's been so dry that you can't find them. I've had to resort to buying some," said Mrs. Exon, wife of Gov. J.J. Exon of Nebraska. Normally she gets all the wigglers she needs for her one-a-week fishing trips from her private worm garden in the fallout shelter of the governor's mansion in Lincoln. About three years ago "I had Jim (the governor) make a box so I could raise them myself. Some of these babies take 18 months to mature," she explained, "and the bigger the worm, the bigger the fish."

—"It certainly is a lot quieter around here when he is not here," said Betty Ford as she strolled through Vail, Colo., signing autographs but attracting little attention. President Ford left Sunday after a 10-day vacation, and Mrs. Ford plans to enjoy the peace until she begins campaigning Saturday. The First Lady is still recovering from a flareup of osteoarthritis and is still receiving hot packs and massage treatments for her neck.

—Senate liberals and conservatives joined in a tribute to retiring Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) passing a resolution naming a new office building for him. Hart, 63, suffering from cancer, is completing his third term. The two major Senate office buildings are named after the late Sens. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) and Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.). The building to bear Hart's name is still under construction.

—Robert L. Levister was sworn in in Hartford by Gov. Ella T. Grasso and became Connecticut's first black Superior Court judge. As his wife, Lorraine, and friends and fellow judges looked on, Levister, 57, commented: "I guess every judge wants to serve on the Superior Court. I've been looking forward to this for 11 years, and I finally got it."

—Singer Dean Martin sued Warner Bros. Records in Los Angeles for $1.5 million, charging the company with breach of contract. Martin said that under a 1970 arrangement he was to make 10 albums, receiving $150,000 for each. But he said the company had refused to let him make the last five, although he has prepared songs for them.

—When the politician declares he is seeking election, his wife is at his side—smiling. When the candidate marches to the podium, there is his wife seated on the platform—smiling. As he takes the oath of office, his wife—smiling—holds the Bible. Who is this Mona Lisa? What has she to do with her mate's public duties? That adoring smile conveys more than mere love of spouse, claims sociologist Joanna B. Gillespie. It proves that her man is trustworthy, stable, respectable, says Mrs. Gillespie in a paper prepared for a convention of sociologists meeting in New York City. It is mime testimony of Mrs. Morality. The political wife, writes the sociologist, is confirming her husband's "family status, his nonhomosexuality, his conformity and therefore (his) predictability."

FORD LEFT SUNDAY AFTER A 10-DAY WORKING VACATION. MRS. FORD, STILL RECOVERING FROM A FLARE UP OF HER OSTEOARTHRITIS, STAYED TO REST FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

PAIN FROM HER NECK CAUSED MRS. FORD TO CUT THE AUTOGRAPH SESSION SHORT, ALTHOUGH A SECRET SERVICE AGENT PROVIDED A PAD TO MAKING SIGNING EASIER.

"YOU NEVER GET TIRED OF SIGNING AUTOGRAPHS," SHE SAID. MRS. FORD ALSO STOPPED AT HER HUSBAND'S CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS BEFORE RETURNING HOME.

HER PRESS SECRETARY, SHEILA WEIDENFELD, SAID THE FIRST LADY WAS RECEIVING HOT PACKS AND MASSAGE TREATMENTS AT REGULAR INTERVALS FOR HER NECK PAIN.

BY FRANK CORMIER

VAIL, COLO. (AP) -- PRESIDENT FORD IS CONTINUING A RELAXED VACATION SCHEDULE THAT WAS CRITICIZED BY HIS VICE PRESIDENTIAL RUNNING MATE BEFORE HE WAS CHOSEN FOR THE SECOND SPOT ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

PRESS SECRETARY RON NESSEN SAID FORD WOULD CONTINUE TO MIX WHITE HOUSE CHORES WITH ATHLETICS AT LEAST FOR TODAY, BUT IS EXPECTED TO BEGIN TAKING PART IN CAMPAIGN-STRATEGY SESSIONS WITH HIS ADVISERS TUESDAY.

NESSEN REPORTED THAT CONFERENCES ON THE CAMPAIGN ALREADY ARE UNDERWAY AMONG ADVISERS, ALTHOUGH FORD HAS NOT BEEN INVOLVED IN ANY MAJOR WAY.

LAST WEEK, BEFORE FORD SELECTED HIM AS HIS RUNNING MATE, SEN. ROBERT DOLE OF KANSAS MET WITH EDITORS OF TIME MAGAZINE, WHICH QUOTED HIM IN THIS WEEK'S EDITION AS CRITICIZING PLANS FOR THE VAIL STAY.

"WITH EIGHT WEEKS TO GO, HE (FORD) HAS TO BE VERY AGGRESSIVE," DOLE WAS QUOTED AS SAYING. "... WITH HIM GOING TO VAIL FOR A WEEK, THAT'S 15 PER CENT OF IT DOWN THE DRAIN."

DOLE'S PRESS SECRETARY, JANET ANDERSON, WHO ATTENDED THE SESSION WITH THE MAGAZINE EDITORS, SAID SUNDAY NIGHT THAT THE QUOTES "APPEARED ACCURATE."

NESSEN RESPONDED BY SAYING, "THE PRESIDENT IS NOT WASTING HIS TIME. THIS WILL BE A VERY PRODUCTIVE WEEK IN THE CAMPAIGN."

MEANWHILE, IN ANOTHER WEEKEND DEVELOPMENT, FORMER TEXAS GOV. JOHN CONNALLY REPORTEDLY TURNED DOWN A FORD REQUEST TO BECOME CHAIRMAN OF THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE BECAUSE HE BELIEVES IT IS TOO LATE FOR FORD TO OVERCOME JIMMY CARTER'S LEAD IN THE PRESIDENTIAL POLLS.

THAT REPORT IN THE SUNDAY DALLAS TIMES HERALD SAID THAT CONNALLY DID NOT WANT TO BE BLAMED FOR A REPUBLICAN LOSS IN NOVEMBER.

MRS. FORD ENTERTAINED DESPITE A PAINFUL FLARE-UP OF OSTEOARTHRITIS IN HER NECK AND ARMS. SHE SEEMED IN DISCOMFORT WHEN ACCOMPANYING HER HUSBAND TO LUTHERAN SERVICES. AFTERWARDS, AN AIDE QUOTED HER AS SAYING, "I'M FEELING MUCH BETTER" FOLLOWING A MASSAGE AND HEAT TREATMENTS.

VAIL, COLO. (UPI) -- PRESIDENT FORD BEGINS TO MAP HIS FALL CAMPAIGN THIS WEEK, INCLUDING WHAT WHITE HOUSE SOURCES SAID WAS FOUR NATIONALLY-TELEVISED DEBATES WITH JIMMY CARTER.

THE PRESIDENT SPENT THE WEEKEND PLAYING GOLF AND TENNIS AND, ACCORDING TO PRESS SECRETARY RON NESSEN, PLANS TO "TAKE IT EASY FOR ONE MORE DAY".

THAT DECISION DREW CRITICISM FROM HIS RUNNING MATE, SEN. ROBERT DOLE, R-KAN. IN A TIME MAGAZINE INTERVIEW, DOLE SAID OF THE PRESIDENT, "WITH EIGHT WEEKS TO GO, HE HAS TO BE VERY AGGRESSIVE. I DON'T KNOW HOW YOU CAN DO MUCH ELSE BUT GO TO GEORGIA THE FIRST DAY AFTER THE CONVENTION AND WORK YOUR WAY UP. WITH HIM GOING TO VAIL FOR A WEEK -- THAT'S 15 PER CENT DOWN THE DRAIN."

"IT'S GOING TO BE A VERY PRODUCTIVE WEEK," NESSEN RESPONDED. "WAIT 'TIL YOU SEE WHO IS ON THE SCHEDULE."

TWO CAMPAIGN DEPUTIES, STUART SPENCER AND JAMES BAKER, WERE ARRIVING. FORD'S CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN, ROGERS MORTON, WAS ALREADY IN VAIL.

SOURCES SAID DURING THE WEEK, FORD WOULD BE BEEFING UP HIS CAMPAIGN TEAM, PROBABLY ELEVATING BAKER TO A MORE IMPORTANT ROLE. THEY SAID MORTON WILL STAY ON.

DOLE SAW THE CAMPAIGN GROUP AS A PROBLEM. "I HAVEN'T MET A PERSON IN THE CAMPAIGN YET THAT HAS A BROAD VIEW," HE TOLD TIME. "JERRY FORD IS A VERY DECENT, HONEST, OPEN PRESIDENT. HE JUST ISN'T THE TYPE OF GUY TO GO AROUND KNOCKING HEADS TOGETHER. BUT THE PRESIDENT'S GOT TO DO IT ..."

"I DON'T KNOW WHAT ROG MORTON WANTS TO DO. BUT THERE IS SOME TALK OF JOHN CONNALLY COMING IN AND JIM LYNN'S NAME HAS BEEN TOSSED ABOUT. THERE'S ALSO BEEN SOME TALK ABOUT SOME OF THE REAGAN PEOPLE. I KNOW FORD WOULDN'T WANT TO OFFEND ANYONE, BUT HE DOESN'T WANT TO LOSE THE ELECTION EITHER."

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. FORD WORSHIPPED YESTERDAY AT THE VAIL INTERFAITH CHAPEL. THE FIRST LADY, SUFFERING FROM A PAINFUL FLARE UP OF HER OSTEOARTHRITIC NECK CONDITION, WALKED STIFFLY AND WAS STEADIED BY THE PRESIDENT. SHE HAD ABOUT TWO HOURS OF SUNBATHING BEFORE HOLDING A DINNER PARTY FOR 16 GUESTS, MOST OF THEM FRIENDS WITH HOMES IN VAIL.

Mrs. Ford Feels Better, Aide Says

VAIL, Colo. (AP)—First Lady Betty Ford, suffering from arthritic pains in the neck and shoulder, was reported "much better" Monday by her press secretary, Sheila Rabb Weidenfeld.

Mrs. Weidenfeld said Mrs. Ford received additional therapy, including a massage and heat packs, and sunned by the swimming pool at the home the Fords are renting here during a nine-day working vacation.

The First Lady felt well enough to entertain 14 guests at dinner Sunday night and she joined the President and several friends for dinner at a Vail restaurant Monday.

Dr. William Lukash, the President's physician, said he expected the pain to vanish later in the week as Mrs. Ford relaxes.

VAIL (UPI) -- THE BREAST CANCER TREATMENTS BETTY FORD HAS BEEN TAKING FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS WILL END IN OCTOBER, HER DOCTOR SAID YESTERDAY.

WILLIAM LUKASH, THE WHITE HOUSE PHYSICIAN, SAID THERE HAS BEEN NO RECURRENCE OF CANCER AND SO DOCTORS WILL WIND UP THE CHEMOTHERAPY THE FIRST LADY HAS UNDERGONE SINCE HER BREAST CANCER SURGERY ON SEPT. 28, 1974.

MRS. FORD LEARNED SHE HAD CANCER A LITTLE MORE THAN A MONTH AFTER PRESIDENT FORD TOOK OFFICE. SHE HAD HER RIGHT BREAST REMOVED IN AN OPERATION AT BETHESDA NAVAL HOSPITAL.

HOWEVER, MRS. FORD HAS BEEN SHOWING THE EFFECTS OF A SEVERE FLAREUP OF A CHRONIC OSTEOARTHRITIC NECK AILMENT SINCE SHE ARRIVED IN VAIL LAST FRIDAY. MRS. VAIL, COLO. (UPI) -- PRESIDENT FORD'S POLITICAL STRATEGISTS BEGAN PLANNING MONDAY FOR THE WHITE HOUSE BATTLE WITH JIMMY CARTER, AND ONE AIDE SAID RUNNING MATE ROBERT DOLE WILL FIND PLENTY OF WORK TO DO WHEN HE ARRIVES.

WHITE HOUSE CHIEF OF STAFF RICHARD CHENEY MUSTERED FORD'S POLITICAL ADVISERS FOR THEIR FIRST FORMAL CONFERENCE ON PLANNING THE PRESIDENTIAL DEBATE WITH CARTER, NAMING CAMPAIGN OFFICIALS AND DECIDING TACTICS FOR THE RACE.

FORD DIVIDED HIS TIME BETWEEN PRESIDENTIAL BUSINESS, GOLF, SWIMMING AND TENNIS, AFTER DECIDING TO JOIN THE TALKS TUESDAY WHEN MORE OF HIS CAMPAIGN STRATEGISTS HAVE ARRIVED AT THIS ROCKY MOUNTAIN RESORT.

PRESS SECRETARY RON NESSEN, UNSHAVEN AND CASUALLY DRESSED IN A T-SHIRT, WAS ASKED BY REPORTERS ABOUT A TIME MAGAZINE STORY WHICH QUOTED SEN. DOLE AS SAYING THE PRESIDENT WAS WASTING TIME IN VAIL WHEN HE SHOULD BE CAMPAIGNING.

"IT WOULD BE FAIR TO SAY THERE WILL BE A LOT OF WORK HERE, AS SEN. DOLE WILL FIND OUT WHEN HE GETS HERE," NESSEN REPLIED.

ASKED ABOUT A NEWSPAPER REPORT THAT FORMER TEXAS GOV. JOHN CONNALLY SAID THE PRESIDENT WOULD LOSE TO CARTER NOV. 2, NESSEN DECLARED, "THE PRESIDENT THINKS HE WILL WIN IN NOVEMBER."

IN RESPONSE TO REPORTS THAT FORD HAD OFFERED CONNALLY THE CHAIRMANSHIP OF THE GOP NATIONAL COMMITTEE, NESSEN SAID: "THE PRESIDENT DISCUSSED WITH CONNALLY IN KANSAS CITY A POSSIBLE ROLE FOR HIM IN THE CAMPAIGN INCLUDING A POSSIBLE ROLE IN THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE."

DOLE WAS EXPECTED IN VAIL LATER THIS WEEK AFTER SUBSTITUTING FOR FORD AT AN AMERICAN LEGION CONVENTION IN SEATTLE, WASH., WEDNESDAY. NESSEN SAID HE DID NOT KNOW WHETHER CONNALLY ALSO WOULD TRAVEL HERE.

THE PRESIDENT'S WIFE BETTY CONTINUED TO REST AND RECEIVE HOT PACK TREATMENT FOR HER AILING BACK, STRAINED DURING THE GOP CONVENTION. FRIENDS SAID SHE STILL HAD A SMALL ARTHRITIC NOPE ON HER BACK.

SHEILA RABB WEIDENFELD, HER PRESS SECRETARY, QUOTED THE FIRST LADY AS SAYING, "I'M FEELING MUCH BETTER." SHE SAID MRS. FORD MIGHT GO SWIMMING, DEPENDING ON THE WEATHER.

MRS. FORD UNDERWENT BREAST CANCER SURGERY ON SEPT. 28, 1974, AND SINCE THEN HAS BEEN TAKING TREATMENTS EVERY FIVE OR SIX WEEKS.

HER CHRONIC 13-YEAR-OLD PINCHED NERVE AILMENT IN HER NECK HAS BEEN ACTING UP AGAIN, AGGRAVATED BY ALL OF HER ARM AND HAND MOVEMENTS WHILE SHE WAS IN THE FAMILY BOX AT THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION IN KANSAS CITY, MO.

SHE GAVE A DINNER PARTY SUNDAY EVENING AT THEIR LEASED VAIL VILLA BUT WENT TO BED BEFORE ALL THE GUESTS HAD DEPARTED.

SHIELA RABB WEIDENFELD, THE FIRST LADY'S PRESS SECRETARY, WAS ASKED ABOUT A TIME MAGAZINE REPORT QUOTING MRS. FORD AS SAYING THAT NANCY REAGAN "JUST FELL APART AT THE SEAMS" WHEN SHE MET RONALD REAGAN.

MRS. WEIDENFELD SAID SHE COULD NOT REMEMBER THE FIRST LADY SAYING THAT ABOUT MRS. REAGAN BUT EXPLAINED THAT MRS. FORD DID MAKE SOME REMARKS IN CONNECTION WITH MRS. REAGAN'S STATEMENTS AGAINST THE EQUAL RIGHTS AMENDMENT.

MRS. WEIDENFELD SAID THAT MRS. FORD SAID SHE "COULDN'T UNDERSTAND HOW MRS. REAGAN COULD NOT SUPPORT THE ERA BECAUSE SHE HAD HELD A PROFESSIONAL POSITION BEFORE SHE GOT MARRIED."

MRS. FORD HAS BEEN A STRONG ADVOCATE OF ERA AND MAINTAINS THAT IT WOULD BE A BOON FOR BOTH WOMEN WHO WORK AS WELL AS HOMEMAKERS.

MRS. WEIDENFELD ALSO DENIED THERE WAS A "FEUD" BETWEEN MRS. FORD AND MRS. REAGAN WHICH OTHER OBSERVERS SAID BROKE INTO THE OPEN AT THE GOP CONVENTION.

A 68-year-old former FBI clerk has written a book called "FBI Woman" in which she claims she and J. Edgar Hoover were once engaged to be married but that she returned his ring after an argument in his office.

Mrs. Blonde Fowler, a divorcee who worked in Washington from 1943 to 1952 and now lives in Jacksonville, Fla., says she decided to tell her story because "I kept hearing all this dirt about Hoover, especially about homosexuality."

"I have no proof—just the memories and a couple of scars," she said.

Their names are Bob Rich and Nat Gottlieb but they look like Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford, respectively.

So much so that the National Lampoon, the humor magazine, has named them the winners in a Carter-Ford look-alike contest. Rich, 34, and Gottlieb, 56, are both New Yorkers.

Television personality Ed McMahon has been granted permission by a judge to sell his $200,000 beach-front house in Avalon, N.J., to pay off business debts. McMahon's former wife and four children filed suit last week to block the sale of the house but the judge ruled that the children could live "at their own expense or with their mother in another house."

Princess Grace of Monaco has criticized filmmakers for producing violent and pornographic films. The 46-year-old princess says that producers should impose their own censorship. She says she finds the change in films since she left Hollywood 20 years ago "quite startling."

First Lady Betty Ford winds up a two-week vacation in the Rockies today. She completed a backlog of correspondence and highlighted a performance by a group of young singers at an outdoor concert in Vail, Colo., by joining the chorus in a snake dance and linking arms with them for a modified kick and shuffle.

Ford's Sta This Week

VAIL, Colo., Aug. 21 — A few weeks ago, a political aide to President Ford was asked about strategy for the fall campaign. There were two options.

Ford Relaxes, Watches Over Betty's Recovery

VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — President Ford played golf Saturday, planning to open strategy sessions today or Monday on his election campaign and watching over the recovery of his wife Betty who was reported "really hurting."

"We'll start strategy planning Sunday or Monday," Ford said.

• The economy — and President Ford's chief economic adviser — loom large in the battle for the presidency. Page 6A.

• Turning from rhetoric to strategy, Ford casts an admiring eye on the upset pulled by Harry S.

It wasn't because NBC's consciousness had been raised, but because of a contract requirement that the network made Barbara Walters co-host of the "Today" show in 1974.

Walters, interviewing herself in the current Ladies Home Journal, said her contract had provided that if Frank McGee ever left the program, she would become co-host. No one dreamed at the time, of course, that McGee would die so young.

The relationship with McGee didn't always run smoothly, either, she added. He had had an agreement with NBC that let him choose which interviews he wanted to do, so that often she was left out of important political interviews.

"As far as the public knew," she said, "Frank and I had a very compatible relationship. NBC never doubted that I would accept this role—which was not only secondary but submissive, and yet, even at this time I was considered by many to be too aggressive."

Photographers caught Bianca Jagger actually kissing someone who wasn't Mick, at London's Heathrow Airport.

Record company executive Barry Cross shouted, "If you take pictures there'll be trouble," and swung a briefcase at one photographer. Cross was described as a friend who had flown with Mrs. Jagger from New York.

Zubin Mehta conducts both the Los Angeles and Israel Philharmonics, but usually not at the same time.

On Wednesday, however, he will lead both orchestras without even getting on a plane. The 210 musicians will combine for a special Bicentennial concert at Hollywood Bowl. Soprano Beverly Sills will join the group in the pension fund benefit.

And for once, Berlioz' "Symphonie Fantastique" will be performed as written: for 130 strings, 32 woodwinds, 32 bass, four harps, and so on.

Lady Bird Johnson, the former First Lady, posed for pictures last night with her son-in-law Charles S. Robb, who is said to be on the verge of entering politics in Virginia. Mrs. Johnson made no comment on whether Robb, husband of Lynda Bird Johnson Robb, should seek the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor but she doubtless figured that a photograph with his famous mother-in-law would do him no harm.

Mrs. Johnson was in town for a joint meeting of representatives of the John F. Kennedy Library, to be built near Boston, and the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library in Austin, Texas. The presidential libraries, together with the University of Texas at Austin, are sponsoring a symposium evaluating the domestic programs of the administrations of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. Titled "Toward New Human Rights," it will be held in Austin Sept. 12-16.

First Lady Betty Ford continued to rest and receive hot pack treatments for her chronic arthritis yesterday in Vail, Colo. White House aides said she was "feeling much better." And daughter Susan, who is sharing her parents' vacation, was photographed with Vail ski instructors Tom Tracy and Arvin Kasparatis.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek has flown to New York from Taipei to continue treatment for an undisclosed illness.

Upward of 1,000 fans flocked to a Hollywood cemetery yesterday to mark the 50th anniversary of the death of silent film star Rudolph Valentino.

This story starts during World War II, when Russian actress Zoya Fyodorova was romanced by an American admiral, Jackson Tate, a scandal that expelled him from the Soviet Union and brought her eight years in prison.

Last year her daughter, Victoria, came to America to see her American father. One thing led to another, and she met and married airline pilot Fred Puoy. In May they had a son, Christopher.

Ford's Priority: Round of Golf In Colorado

By Fred Barnes

Washington Star Staff Writer

VAIL, Colo. — President Ford has put off political strategy sessions until tomorrow or Tuesday in order to, in his words, "get the kinks out" after the arduous struggle to defeat Ronald Reagan for the Republican presidential nomination.

What this means is golf. Upon arriving here Friday for a vacation of a week or more, the President quickly got in nine holes at the Vail municipal golf course.

It was 18 holes yesterday, with Ford taking a "mulligan" on the first hole after his first tee shot went awry, and he was expected to play 18 more today.

The President was under orders to take it easy after the wearying rigors of the Kansas City convention, and the White House doctor, Rear Adm. William L. Lukash, said Mrs. Ford was suffering some "real discomfort." She has suffered for years from a pinched nerve in her neck and may have irritated the condition during the convention by raising her arms in victory signs and waving to well-wishers.

"SHE WAS REALLY tired yesterday," Ford said, "but she'll be better now that she's getting some rest."

Only two members of his inner circle of political advisers are in Vail with the President so far — campaign chairman Rogers C.B. Morton and Richard Cheney, White House chief of staff.

Betty snaps back >

With or without a helmet, the First Family is high on football. Jerry, of course, was Most Valuable Player at Michigan, and wife Betty, while on vacation in Vail, Colo., proved she was no slouch at center herself (even though she has to block out chronic arthritis). The occasion was a touch football game between "his" and "her" Secret Service details. Once the action began, Betty rose from her three-point stance and stayed on the sidelines as coach-cheerleader for her boys. But neither her encouragement, her sassing of the referees nor the case of Gatorade she provided helped her team. The President's men were the victors, 12-6.

Wayne gets a double <

The Los Angeles Dodger Stadium has seen better teams, but none with such a luminous lineup. Playing the local sports reporters were the Hollywood Stars, including Pat Boone, Ed Asner, Tony Orlando and (at left) Wayne Rogers of TV's City of Angels. As bat persons Darlene Carr, of The Streets of San Francisco, and Deidre Hall (right), of the soaper Days of Our Lives, can attest, Wayne can go to his left and his right. How about one down the middle? Confessed Rogers, "I whiffed." Nonetheless, his team won 5-2.
