Press Pool Report (Golf)

The President finished up his 18 holes of golf around 3 p. m. On the 18th hole, he left a 20 foot putt a few inches from the hole, then picked up for a par 5. We couldn't get his score. Somebody in the small crowd waiting to see him asked--he said, "It's not printable, either way."

Three people carried signs. Two of them said, "Ford, power and economy." Another said, "Keep grits ethnically pure."

It was learned the President will have some staff people in at 6 for cocktails and that he and Mrs. Ford and some senior staffers are invited to the home of Trammell Crow for dinner.

He said at one point that he ought to come out more often and play longer. Asked the crowd if "you all had a good day".

He then went into the club house and had something to drink and left, going straight back to his house.
